HARDMAN IN RACE FOR GOVERNORSHIP AGAINST HARRIS

Formal Announcement of Candidacy Made by Commerce Man and Platform Given Out for Publication.

ENFORCEMENT OF LAW URGED BY CANDIDATE

Development of Educational Interests and of Good Roads Are Two Principal Planks of Platform.

WHAT THE CANDIDATES SAY ABOUT THE RACE

Governor Harris.

Governor Harris, when told of Dr. Hardman's announcement, said:

"Well, well; has he announced? I had made up my mind that it would be no surprise to me when it did come. I had already concluded that he expected to enter the race.

"I shall give him the very best I've got in the shop while we are running, but I'm sorry he has announced, and I think he will be before we get to the end of it.

"I shall have something to say to the people in a little while."

Dr. Hardman.

"I do not believe that I am doing any violence to the honored custom which provided for the second term of the chief executive of our state, as this has been frequently violated several times of recent years, both from the standpoint of the people and the retiring chief executive, and in further consideration of the fact that the chief basis of the campaign was launched and fought out on the grounds of one term."

Dr. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, Ga., candidate for governor in the last campaign, last night announced his candidacy and platform for the governorship in the state primary next summer.

The announcement comes as no surprise, since his friends have expected for months that he would be a candidate, and Dr. Hardman made the statement before the Christmas holidays that he would issue an announcement upon the gubernatorial situation early in January.

So far the only announced candidate whom Dr. Hardman will have to oppose is Governor Nat E. Harris, who defeated Dr. Hardman in the last campaign, and who has already announced that he will stand for re-election. Governor Harris has not yet formally announced his platform.

Others mentioned as possible candidates are Judge W. E. Thomas, of Valdosta, and Hugh M. Dorsey, solicitor general of Fulton superior court, in Atlanta. Friends of Judge Thomas have stated that they strongly believed that he would run.

Dr. Hardman's Platform.

The following are the principal planks contained in Dr. Hardman's announced platform:

The enforcement of the prohibition laws.

The enforcement of all other laws.

The development of the diversity of interests and resources of the state.

A business administration of the affairs of the state.

The development of educational interests and the elimination of illiteracy.

The revision of the health laws of the state for the conservation of human life and the prevention of suffering.

The laying of special stress upon agricultural education.

The development of good roads.

The just treatment of labor, corporations, railroads and other interests which develop the interests of the state.

The conservation of timber and mineral resources.

$60,000 FIRE LOSS AT LIVERY STABLE

One Man Probably Fatally Injured, Many Horses Cremated, and Guests at Nearby Hotels Are Routed Out of Beds.

One man was probably fatally injured and 72 horses were cremated at 10 o'clock last night, in a $60,000 fire, which totally destroyed the Charles Vittur livery stable at 169 Marietta street, did small damage to the Gem and Marietta street hotels, on each side of the Vittur structure, and for over an hour, aided by a strong wind, baffled efforts of firemen to get it under control.

Charles Thompson, negro driver for the Barclay & Brandon undertaking establishment, who slept on the third floor of the stable, is at the Grady hospital, several ribs broken and suffering internal injuries which will probably cause his death.

Charles Vittur, owner of the stable and most of the stock, estimated the damage at approximately $60,000, part of which is covered by insurance.

Faulty Flue Causes Blaze.

The fire started from a faulty flue, it is reported. Ernest Vittur, son of the owner of the stable, was sitting in the office at the front of the building, according to his statement to a Constitution reporter. A mule, the only one in the barn, ran out through the front door into the street. He left the office after the mule, thinking that something had happened to frighten the animal into bolting. Returning he brought the animal back as far as the door.

Releasing the mule young Vittur went to the back of the stable and saw that the whole rear end of the building was in flames, which were rapidly eating their way toward the ceiling above.

Upon finding that he could not

"Atlanta Has Worst Claptrap Charter on Earth," He Tells Freight Bureau Members and Asserts System Is Needed Which Will Hold Someone Responsible.

Enthusiasm marked the annual meeting at the Piedmont hotel last night of the Atlanta Freight Bureau, at which reports were heard dealing with the work of the past twelve months, plans for the future were discussed, strong addresses were delivered and directors were chosen for the approaching year.

Those chosen as directors were W. H. Camp, C. H. Candler, H. E. Choate, Beaumont Davison, S. C. Dinkins, J. L. Duncan, Louis Gholstin, I. A. Hirsberg, E. M. Hudson, Bolling H. Jones, C. H. Kelley, Clyde L. King, F. M. Marsh, J. R. Mobley, W. W. Orr, W. A. Parker, Willis Ragan, E. L. Rhodes, Ralph Rosenbaum, E. H. Thompson and H. B. Wey.

Commendation for the officers whose efforts during the past year have brought benefit to business interests of the city were expressed in the remarks of the speaker, and Mayor James G. Woodward, during the course of his remarks, took occasion to attack the present system of government here with the declaration that Atlanta must make some radical changes in the methods of running the municipality if a municipal catastrophe is to be avoided.

URGES SUPPORT OF BUREAU.

President C. H. Kelley called the meeting to order and presided over the session. He declared that people of Atlanta who do not realize it are being benefited by the Atlanta Freight Bureau and he pleaded for a liberal support of the organization. "We want to get the plans and intentions of the organization before the people," he said. "This has been an important year in the history of the organization. Contrary to the general idea existing in many quarters the Atlanta Freight Bureau is not altogether antagonistic to the railroads.

"It is my pleasure to declare that through conferences and with no necessity to resorting to legal warfare, we have been able to accomplish many reforms in freight rates which have saved thousands of dollars to the people of this city. Many of the beneficiaries of these savings are not familiar with the work of the organization and they contribute in no way to its support. There are many people who do not understand what the organization is doing.

"The freight bureau should have the support of the community at large. As it is, a handful of people do the work. In this connection I want to say a word for Harry T. Moore, our secretary. We have been fortunate in having him as the officer to perform the duties which fall to his lot, and he has given admirable service. W. A. Wimbish, our legal representative, is an able man and has given us his best efforts. Few of us realize the great work that he has done in our behalf.

"No city in the southeast has a freight bureau so live as that which is serving Atlanta, and none deserves the more hearty support of the entire citizenship."

EXPLAINS REFORMS.

Mr. Kelley explained in detail a number of reforms instituted by the organization along freight rate lines,

AUSTRIA'S VICTORY OVER MONTENEGRO GIVES FAST GRIP ON ADRIATIC SEA

With Capture of Mt. Lovcen, Which Dominates the Capital, Little Kingdom Virtually Passes Under the Control of Teutons.

INVADING AUSTRIANS AND MONTENEGRINS AGREE TO ARMISTICE

Doubted If King Nicholas Will Continue Fight—Situation Is Regarded in Italy as Presenting a Grave Menace.

London, January 13.—Another decisive stage in the Balkan situation has been reached, with Montenegro now following Serbia in virtual absorption by the invading forces. It was learned tonight that Austria and Montenegro had come to an armistice, this being construed as the last act of the little country after having its capital, Cettinje, dominated by the Austrian capture of Mount Lovcen.

Whether King Nicholas will continue the unequal struggle is considered doubtful, here, but the accepted view among the best posted men in London is that Montenegro has virtually passed under Austrian control. The chief significance of this does not lie in the small territorial acquisition, which is less than Serbia, but in Montenegro's Adriatic front, lying alongside the Austrian main offensive naval station of Cattaro, where, today's dispatches announce, the entire Austrian fleet, including three dreadnaughts, is assembled and from which the recent naval raid was made against Italian transports going to the relief of Serbia.

AUSTRIA DOMINANT IN ADRIATIC SEA.

This further extension of Austria's Adriatic front with the dominating naval center of Cattaro, is viewed as further tending toward the realization of Austria's object of making the Adriatic an Austrian sea and thus checking Italy's ambition to make it an Italian sea.

Italy had so much at stake that officials and diplomats had been waiting anxiously for the steps Italy would take to relieve Montenegro and at the same time avert another Austrian extension on the Adriatic. They were aware that Italy had once before prevented Austria from gaining territorial concessions from Montenegro near Cattaro by emphatically objecting to the treaty made in 1912. As Italy was then a member of the triple alliance, Austria reluctantly yielded to the Italian objection.

HELP FROM ITALY FAILED TO ARRIVE.

It was believed that dynastic reasons would play a part in Italy's assistance of Montenegro, as King Nicholas' daughter is the wife of the king of Italy, but help from that quarter did not arrive, as the Italian expedition was landed further south, in Albania, and has not been heard from since.

The London Times asserts that Italy's interests in Montenegro are as important as England's in the opening of the Dardanelles and that the prospective annihilation of Montenegro will have far-reaching maritime consequences in the eastern Mediterranean.

OCCUPATION OF CORFU EXCITES GERMANY

The news of the entente allies' occupation of Corfu is said to have excited greatest indignation in Germany, where the fact that Achilleion castle is to be used as the Serbian headquarters is regarded as a personal insult to the German emperor. It is said that the emperor has sent a personal protest to the king of the Greeks, holding Greece responsible for any damage to German property.

The official communication from Constantinople asserts that the Turks knew well in advance about the Anglo-French plans for the abandonment of the last Dardanelles positions, and made preparations accordingly, but the fire from the French and British warships appears to have been successful in screening the retiring troops from the Turkish attempts to exact a heavy toll.

Rumors of the state of the German emperor's health have again assumed an alarming tone, but without authoritative backing. A Rome dispatch reports that the crown prince has been summoned to a council to discuss measures in case the emperor's illness is prolonged. An Amsterdam dispatch attaches significance to the fact that the emperor failed personally to read the speech from the throne at the opening of the Prussian diet and says that the emperor repeatedly promised to be present at this function.

An Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says:

"Emperor is still abed suffering from his throat, and a fever has set in."

The correspondent fails to give the source of his information, however. The only news direct from Berlin quotes The Tageblatt as saying that the "boil" from which the emperor is suffering does not prevent his walking out.

ITALIANS ALARMED BY SITUATION.

Rome, January 13.—The capture of Mount Lovcen, Montenegro, by the Austrians is regarded here as presenting a grave menace for Italy. Military

HUERTA DIES AT EL PASO

GENERAL VICTORIANO HUERTA.

El Paso, Texas, January 13.—General Huerta died at his home here tonight at 8:35 o'clock.

General Huerta, who succeeded General Francisco I. Madero in executive power in Mexico City and later left Mexico, died of sclerosis of the liver.

He was surrounded by his family when the end came.

His death was not unexpected.

Funeral arrangements are to be made tomorrow. It is believed an effort will be made to arrange for his burial in Mexico.

3 More Americans Slain; El Paso People Driving All Mexicans From City

Mining Employees Ordered Out of Troubled District. Protests Made Against the Government's Policy—Carranza Troops Defeated.

El Paso, Texas, January 13.—Martial law has been declared in El Paso.

Soldiers, policemen and many citizens angered by the massacre of a score of American mining men in Mexico, tonight began a round-up of Mexicans in El Paso, with the intention of driving all adherents of Francisco Villa from the city. Many fights took place and all the ambulances and doctors available were kept busy.

At 11 o'clock a number of armed Mexicans gathered in the lower part of the city, the police report. A detachment of the provost guard from Fort Bliss was sent to the vicinity.

Fifty thousand cards for distribution throughout the United States were ordered printed here tonight bearing the phrases:

"Remember the Alamo.

"Did we watch and wait?

"Remember the Cusi.

"Shall we watch and wait?"

El Paso, Texas, January 13.—The complicated nature of the Mexican situation here was further involved by today's developments.

Orders for a general exodus of mining company employees in Chihuahua and Durango; protests against the Mexican policy of the United States; the arrest of leaders of the former Villa organization; announcement by local police authorities that Villa adherents would be driven out of El Paso, and a petition to President Wilson urging the immediate removal of Thomas D. Edwards, United States consul at Juarez, for alleged indifference to American interests in Mexico, indicated the tension in the public mind.

Orders for the withdrawal of mining company employees were issued upon receipt of an urgent request from the state department at Washington and negotiations were at once begun with officials of the de facto Mexican government to provide special trains and protection.

Villa Chiefs Departed.

Miguel Diaz Lombardo, former foreign minister in the Villa cabinet, General Manuel Banda, General Juan Prieto, two brothers of General Medinavietia, Villa's former chief of staff and 20 other former officers of the Villa army, arrested today on the technical charge of vagrancy, were deported from El Paso tonight by the police. They left over the Southern Pacific for California.

A squad of about fifty soldiers aiding the police shortly before 10 o'clock started through one of the main thoroughfares, according to their own statement, "looking for Mexicans." A little

WILSON IS ASKED TO OUST EDWARDS

American Consul at Juarez Is Jeered by Mining Men in the Lobby of El Paso Hotel.

El Paso, Texas, January 13.—The criticisms that greeted Consul Thomas D. Edwards' appearance in a local hotel lobby today reached a climax in a lengthy petition to President Wilson to remove Consul Edwards at once. The petition was forwarded late today.

Edwards, who is American consul at Juarez, was received with shouts of criticism when he appeared in the lobby filled with mining men.

"You cannot intimidate me," Edwards calmly told the miners, and, turning his back, he strode from the lobby.

"Go back to Juarez, where you belong," was shouted at Consul Edwards by the mining men in the hotel as they surrounded him in a threatening manner. "You are a Villa consul. You are not an American. Go to Coahuila or wherever Villa it. We have eighteen American boys he murdered. You ought to be proud of your friends."

Edwards Denies Charge.

Mr. Edwards when informed of the petition for his removal, circulated here today, said that if there were any charges against him he would answer them before the state department.

The petition was circulated after Mr. Edwards appeared in a hotel lobby here and was received with shouts of criticism.

"The incident in the hotel lobby was started by a couple of drunken men," he said, "and I regard it as closed."

"I have never yet since the state department ordered Americans out of Mexico, two years ago, granted a single passport to enter Mexico, and I have discouraged people from going into the country.

"Whatever I have done has been under instructions of the state department, with the sole idea of doing what the government wished."

The petition asking Mr. Edwards' removal charged him with indifference toward the interests of Americans in Mexico.

A petition addressed to former President Roosevelt, asking that he use his influence in having the United States adopt a more drastic Mexican policy, was telegraphed to Mr. Roosevelt late tonight. The petition was signed by a number of mining men.

Protection Promised.

Consul Edwards stated that protection for the massacred Americans was promised by General Gavira, commandant at Juarez, on January 4.

"The state department wired me January 7," he said, "to make urgent representations to the Carranza government here to protect the train upon

CARRANZA PLEDGES HIS ENTIRE FORCE TO HUNT AND KILL BANDIT ASSASSINS

Ambasador Designate Arredondo Says Slain Americans Had Been Warned to Keep Out of Guerrilla Warfare Territory.

ISSUE IS PROBABLE IF CARRANZA FAILS TO PUNISH SLAYERS

Lansing Again Warns Americans to Leave Dangerous Section — Intimates That Steps So Far Taken by Carranza Government Have Been Satisfactory.

Washington, January 13.—Capture of General Jose Rodrigues, General Almeida and several other Villa chieftains by Carranza forces near Madera was announced tonight in dispatches from El Paso to the state department and the Mexican embassy. Almeida was shot immediately, the message to the embassy said, and summary execution of Rodrigues had been ordered by General Garira, commanding the garrison at Juarez.

Rodrigues and his followers were taken yesterday by Maximo Marques, a former Villa officer, who surrendered with the Chihuahua army. As Madera is more than 100 miles north of Coalhuiachic, where the Americans were killed Tuesday, it is believed here that they hardly could have been concerned in the massacre.

CARRANZA FORCES ARE HUNTING BANDITS.

Elisco Arredondo, ambassador designate of the de facto government of Mexico, called at the state department today and personally assured Secretary Lansing that Carranza troops had been dispatched to western Chihuahua with orders to kill or capture all the bandits concerned in the slaying of American citizens. He said every Carranza soldier in northern Mexico would be pressed into service, if necessary, to achieve this purpose.

In a statement later Mr. Arredondo declared that the men who lost their lives had attempted to reach their place of business before complete control of the region had been accomplished by the Carranza forces. He said they had been given permission at their own request to pass through the Carranza lines, although Americans had been warned to keep out of territory in which guerrilla warfare was in progress.

Mr. Arredondo went to the state department at the close of a day, devoted largely in official circles here to the Mexican situation. President Wilson conferred with Secretary Lansing and discussed the subject with callers. He is understood to have told some of the later that the Chihuahua mine employees had been specifically warned not to go into Mexico.

AMERICA DETERMINED TO ENFORCE PROTECTION.

During the day Secretary Lansing made it clear that the United States would expect from the de facto government evidence that the murderers had been punished and that if proper

ECONOMY!

Buy-Right Hints for the Housewife

Economy Not Inherent Can Become a Cultivated Trait!

All folks are not fortunately possessed of an inbred sense or trait of economy—

The virtue, when inherent, however, does not always argue its possessor practices this qualification as a matter of necessity, rather than as a matter of choice. Some of the richest people in every community are the greatest economists; not through the stress of necessity, but through an inherent trait: a very good reason in many cases, no doubt, why they are rich: why they have accumulated, while others have not.

However, economy is a characteristic that can be cultivated.

The best field for its cultivation are the ADVERTISING pages of The Constitution. Here you will see daily the opportunities for practicing economy.

The merchants in many lines advertise their lowest prices in The Constitution. Make a practice of reading their Ads, gentle Housewife, and learn the truths of economy they teach—

NOTE—The CONSTITUTION guarantees a marked saving on every purchase made in Atlanta in stores that advertise their lowest prices in these pages.

ATLANTA'S GOVERNMENT IN NEED OF CHANGE

and dealt at some length with the problems which are now confronting it. He told of plans for the future and of the movements which are under way at the present time.

The report of Mr. Moore, the traffic manager and secretary, showed that the year just closing has been a very active one. He told of the many rate changes and of the methods adopted by the organization in getting relief along various lines. He predicted that Atlanta will live long as the leading commercial center of the south, with the declaration that this city's superior methods of doing business and its spirit of fair dealing entitle it to the recognition which it has gained and which it will hold in the future.

Mr. Moore attacked the proposal to revise rates on practically all commodities coming into the southeast, and declared that in the applications for a revision of the rates in this state carriers might well entitle their petition one designed "to abolish the Georgia railway commission and substitute therefor the Southeastern Rate association."

The secretary dealt with the fact that many benefits have been derived without recourse to the courts, beneficial revisions being accomplished through conferences without threats of litigation.

The treasurer's report showed that the organization is in a good condition, and that of the attorney, Mr. Wimbish, which was read by Rolling H. Jones in the absence of the organization's attorney, gave a comprehensive statement of the cases which have been settled in the past, and those which are pending at the present time. Mr. Wimbish is now in Washington on business connected with the organization.

CIVIC CHANGES.

Beginning his remarks with a tribute to Mr. Moore, Mayor Woodward pleaded with his hearers to consider certain phases of the present system of government which, he declared, must be changed if the city is to prosper in the future. "I want to call your attention," he said, "to a matter which is even more important than the work of the Atlanta Freight bureau. I want you to consider the necessity for remodeling the present system of city government. I can talk of this matter without being accused of a desire to bring personal gain to myself in that I made this same statement three years ago following a bitter campaign and repeated it a year ago after my election without opposition.

"Regardless of the form of government we adopt," continued the mayor, "the time has some when we must adopt a system which will be 100 per cent efficient. No government can prosper where it takes 75 cents to spend a quarter. We have in the employment of the city of Atlanta too many high-priced men whose chief duty is to sit around wearing out their pants looking for higher salaries. Our revenue is not sufficient for our needs. The city officials cannot do what the people have a right to expect them to do.

"Last year's finance sheet provided for the expenditure of a portion of this year's income and this year's sheet calls for the expenditure of all of this year's revenue and a portion of that of next year. I'm not so sure that a portion of the income of 1913 is not necessitated in the sheet now being considered.

"At a very early date the people of Atlanta should hold a mass meeting to consider changes in the methods of conducting their affairs. Atlanta has the worse clap-trap charter on God's earth. I am not running for office on a commission platform. But I want to tell you right now that the ward proposition must be changed. There are 15 or 20 little mounds of authority in the city hall over which no one has any control. We've got to get a system of government which will hold someone responsible. The time has come for the people of Atlanta to get together and reorganize their system of government.

"The proposal to put a sign over the second oldest bridge in the city warning heavy traffic to keep off because of the dangerous condition of the structure is but a sample of the way things are going now. Gentlemen, I want you to think over these things and prepare to get together and remodel our charter. Atlanta must have relief if Atlanta is to live."

Referring to the work of the freight bureau, Mayor Woodward said that he is glad that Mr. Kelly has secured an appropriation for it as a member of the freight rate committee of general council. This committee, declared the mayor, should be one of the most important in the city government.

"There is no more vital subject than that of transportation and communication," said Murphy Candler, chairman of the Georgia railway commission, in beginning his remarks. "No country can live altogether to itself unless it is Germany, which may be a possible exception. There can never be the highest development of railroads unless they are under some form of regulation. Georgia was one of the first states to adopt the plan of governmental regulation and many other southern states have followed this state's example.

"Unreasonable rates and discriminatory tactics were the evils aimed at. No railway today would dare give a rebate and no intelligent shipper, informed as to the law and the penalty for its violation, would expect one.

"I am not in a position to discuss the new rates which are now in effect, but I do know that they are revolutionary and no one knows what the effect will be. But the system will not wipe Atlanta off the map."

Advocating the enlargement of the interstate commerce commission, Mr. Candler said, in part: "The interstate commerce commission is not large enough. The largeness of the task and the multiplicity of the duties are beyond the power of any seven men to perform. The commission should be enlarged and the country should be divided into districts. The arrangement should be such that the people may come face to face with the men who try their cases.

SYSTEM NOT SATISFACTORY.

"The present system can never prove satisfactory. It is too expensive for the man whose complaint is a small one. There's no satisfaction in submitting a case to a clerk or a stenographer. In this connection, I am glad to say that the Georgia railway commission investigates all complaints made before it and its members hear both sides of the case personally. I would not have my remarks construed as a criticism of the interstate commerce commission. It is the system to which I am making objection.

"I am glad that the reports of officers here tonight are to the effect that the railroads and the bureau are not antagonistic. Gentlemen, has it ever occurred to you that there is a tendency to regulate too much. I sometimes feel that the railroads are justified in their claim that they are being regulated out of business. Through the imposition of various demands upon them by different state legislatures and boards of health they are called upon to make fearful expenditures which, in many instances, are altogether unnecessary.

"The expense of this regulation is borne by the patrons of the railroads. This should be borne in mind when the tendency to regulate reaches such a point that it is unreasonable. The railroads are entitled to some consideration and thy should not be regulated to the point of making it burdensome upon them and upon those who deal with them."

$60,000 FIRE LOSS AT LIVERY STABLE

get through the building by way of the front door, he ran to the back of the structure and endeavored to throw open the wooden gates to let the horses out.

He finally opened the door and tried to induce the animals to come out, but they would not budge from their stalls and all were burned to death.

Thompson, driver for Barclay & Brandon, whose teams were at the Vittur stable, was sleeping on the third floor of the building.

He discovered the fire, and running to the front window jumped three stories to the ground, as all escape by means of stairways was cut off by the roaring flames.

Kept Back Crowds.

Assistant Chief of Police E. L. Jett, with Captain L. S. Dobbs and Officers Haslett, Kirk, Watson and McDaniel, rushed to the blaze and were forced to establish fire lines to keep the crowds of people back from danger zones.

Finding that it was useless to try and save any of the livery stable, the next efforts on the part of the fire fighters, under supervision of Chief Cody, were to keep the Gem and Marietta street hotels from catching afire. Sparks were being carried for blocks on the wings of the wind, and the walls of the hotel buildings were smoking with the heat of the blaze.

At the first alarm of fire all guests in both hostelries grabbed possessions available and sought refuge across the street and in other small hotels up and down Marietta street.

Several beds in the Marietta Street hotel caught fire from sparks which went down into the second floor of the building through the skylights.

Considerable water damage was done to both houses.

There were forty-three guests in the Marietta Street hotel, who all got out without injury owing to the prompt work on the part of the proprietor, W. L. Gore. There were only a few people in the Gem hotel and they were soon out.

Sparks from the burning stables alighted on a residence at 13 Spring street and another call was registered in at fire headquarters. Two companies were dispatched from the Marietta street fire to that place. The blaze was quickly distinguished there.

WORK COMPLETED ON FINANCE SHEET

Paper Calls for Expenditure of $305,520.67 Over City's Revenue and Mayor Is Certain to Use Veto.

The January apportionment sheet was completed by the finance committee of council yesterday afternoon, and will be ready when council meets next Monday afternoon.

That it will be vetoed by the mayor, if it is adopted by council as it now stands, is certain. The mayor has declared that he would not approve a sheet that carried a single dollar of anticipated receipts beyond what is based upon last year's revenue.

The sheet, as adopted by the finance committee carries an overdraft of $305,520.67. This was balanced by adding to the receipts already placed in the sheet as follows:

Police court fines, $25,000; tax receipts, $20,000; fi fas, $20,000; water rents, $10,000; general tax, $165,000; business licenses, $10,000; marshal's deeds, $25,000; uncollected taxes for 1915, $10,000; uncollected sewer assessments for 1915, $20,520.67.

All of the above were additional to what had already been estimated.

Total Revenue Increased.

The sheet shows the total revenue of the city, including the added anticipated receipts to be $5,276,857.78. The receipts first placed in the tentative sheet were $4,698,548.44. This was increased to $4,971,337.77, and then to $5,276,857.78.

In addition to the appropriations already made, and published in The Constitution, the committee on Thursday made the following additions:

For the Georgia Tech, $700; for the military, $200; for the bond commission, $150; to resurface Ivy street from Edgewood avenue to Decatur street, $650; to pay a keeper of a municipal warehouse for six months, $1,500.

To Build Nurses' Dormitory.

An appropriation of $15,000 was made for a nurses' dormitory at the Grady hospital. This was done when Alderman Dunlap stated that a citizen of Atlanta, whose name could not be given at present, had offered to donate $10,000 if the city gave $15,000.

An additional appropriation was made for the police department with which to employ ten more policemen.

The following requests by members of council for appropriations were turned down:

For the paving of Hemphill avenue, $17,000; for a new school house for the Oakland City school, $20,000; for a central stable for the sanitary department, $25,000.

The sum of $20,000 was placed on both sides of the sheet to take care of the condemnation of the corner of Edgewood avenue and Pryor street, so as to widen Edgewood avenue.

Several Cuts Are Made.

The following cuts were made from appropriations that had been made:

For a new engine house on Hunter street, $7,500; for a tractor for the fire department, $4,500; for a clerk in the plumbing office, $900; for two trucks for the sanitary department, $7,000; for two flushing machines for the sanitary department, $4,661; for the purchase of mules for the sanitary department, $1,425; for street drains, $1,000; for drains in Ansley Park, $5,000; leaving the amount, $2,000; from the park department, $4,725; for resurfacing Spring street, $2,446; by changing the paving on Walton street from wood block to a resurface asphalt, $3,000; by reducing the amount for paving Lexington avenue and Catherine street from $10,000 to $5,000.

Wanted Ivy Street Graded.

Joel Hurt appeared before the committee and asked that the grade on Ivy street between Edgewood avenue and Decatur street be changed so as to conform with the grade on the rest of Ivy street. He said that citizens had contributed $20,000 to regrade Ivy street and the city had spent less than $5,000, and that the city had entered into an agreement to regrade the entire street.

"The property owners on Ivy, between Edgewood and Decatur," he said "have given nearly $4,000 and now that portion of the street has not been touched. We ask that the work be done as soon as possible, because nearly four years have passed since it was first started."

The committee took no action on the matter.

The Mayor Gives Warning.

When the sheet had been "balanced," Mayor Woodward said:

"I want to put this committee on notice that such work as this will make a commission government for Atlanta a greater certainty than ever and if commissioners come in this year and find that you have prepared to spend $300,000 more than the city's revenue somebody may be made to pay for it."

The big improvements that the committee has provided for, such as the paving of West Peachtree and Ivy streets, the building of a bridge on Pryor street, the building of one new school house were allowed to stand.

No provision has been made for a new fair building at Lakewood.

It is not anticipated that there will be much opposition to the sheet in council. The opposition will come from the mayor and then it will be up to council to adopt it over his head.

CARRANZA PLEDGES HIS ENTIRE FORCE

steps were not taken an issue might arise between the United States and the Carranza administration. This statement was considered significant of the determination of the United States to enforce protection of its citizens in Mexico. The secretary added another warning to Americans in Mexico to leave districts "where there is revolutionary trouble."

As to the responsibility or the Carranza government for the murders, Lansing declared nothing would be determined until all the facts were at hand. These, it was agreed during the conference with the president, should be gathered from every reliable source.

INTENSE INDIGNATION SHOWN IN CONGRESS.

In congress again today intense indignation at the latest outrage upon Americans in Mexico was reflected.

Senator Lewis, democrat, introduced a resolution to authorize the sending of armed forces of the United States into Mexico to protect American citizens and their property. He asked that it lie over without action for the present and this was done without debate.

Representative Slayden, of Texas, democrat, made a speech in the house, declaring time had come for Pan-American action to restore peace in Mexico. He insisted that only the summary execution of the bandit murderers would satisfy the people of the border states.

Representative Moss, of West Virginia, republican, introduced a resolution, proposing to send a sufficient force of the army to Mexico to capture the murderers and the dispatch of warships to Mexican waters to co-operate with the army and remain there until the persons and property of American citizens were safe.

Secretary Lansing explained that his conference with the president has to do almost solely with the problem confronting the state department in the matter of gaining accurate information. There are no American consuls in the immediate neighborhood of the point where the massacre occurred and the secretary indicated there even was a possibility that all American consuls might be withdrawn from the states of Durango, Chihuahua and Sonora until complete order is restored. It was decided at the conference that information regarding the murders would be taken from any reliable source, including officials of the defacto government.

LANSING WILL EXPECT PUNISHMENT TO BANDITS.

Secretary Lansing made it clear that there was nothing to indicate that the Carranza authorities had not done everything within their power to apprehend the bandits and that so far all the steps taken appeared to be satisfactory. The United States, he said, will expect that the bandits be punished and evidence o fthe punishment must be forthcoming. Upon the developments depend the nature of the action the United States would require. There is said to be no proof that General Villa actually made threats against all Americans, although some information to that effect has reached the department.

As for the responsibility of Carranza for the tragedy, the secretary feels that a question of fact remains to be established. The state department must know under what circumstances the Americans went into the district in which they lost their lives and what conditions surrounded their slaying. The department has no information regarding a derailed troop train which is reported in press dispatches to have caused the engineer of the train carrying the Americans to stop, giving the bandits an opportunity to enter the coaches.

Secretary Lansing let it be known that he considers there is a certain analogy between the situation prevailing in certain parts of Mexico, and that which prevailed in certain parts of the west during the early history of the United States. It was also pointed out that there were many instances where the citizens of one country had lost their lives in another during an insurrection or of mob outbreaks which the authorities were unable to control, and that reparation was not made, except as an act of grace by the government which in normal times should have been responsible.

WILL NOT INDICATE DANGEROUS SECTIONS.

In regard to the warning reiterated by the secretary it was said that the state department would not point out at this time what parts of Mexico were considered safe and what parts were considered unsafe. It was the anticipation of just what happened in Chihuahua, it was said, that prompted the renewed warning issued shortly after the recognition of Carranza. Secretary Lansing considers that the Carranza authorities should have warned Americans to stay out of territory which they considered dangerous.

Mr. Arredondo's statement that Americans had been warned to keep out of dangerous districts were made in the corridors of the state department at the conclusion of his conference with Secretary Lansing. He said he had received no direct messages from General Carranza, and that what information he had regarding the murders had been furnished him by the state department and the Carranza consul at El Paso, Andreas G. Garcia.

"I have not the least doubt," he said later, "that the Carranza forces will not rest until they have captured and punished the assassins. Each American killed was given permission to go through the lines, but that permission should not be considered as a passport. The Carranza authorities have not wanted Americans to return to their work in districts not unquestionably under their control, and where peace has not been entirely restored. We have never invited Americans to return to any district except those such as Tuxpam and Tampico and regions where there is no question regarding the guaranty of their safety. We have fully realized the difficulty of protecting Americans in certain regions, and our total inability to do so in those where the reactionary element is in control. Americans should stay away from such districts.

VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN TO PURGE REGION.

"Personally, I regret deeply what has occurred and naturally so must General Carranza and I am sure he will do all he can to bring punishment to those guilty. I also am certain that my government deplores to an equal extent with the government and the people of the United States the atrocious murders committed by the Villista band, and that it will undertake a vigorous campaign to purge that region of the republic where exist so many important foreign business interests. The reason why these unfortunate victims of Villa's ferocity met such a horrible fate is solely their desire to get to their place of business and industrial activity before the complete control of the region by the forces of law and order and constitutional government had been accomplished."

Mr. Arredondo directed attention to the fact that the murders of the American mining men took place on the edge of the foothills of the Sierra Madre range of mountains in a region peculiarly favorable to the operations of such a band and where outrages of a similar character have occurred in the past.

"I am trusting now," he continued, "in the sound sense of the American people, who cannot but realize that hardly a month has passed since the state of Chihuahua passed into the nominal control of the Carranza government, which already had taken over the control of the larger towns and that within so short a time it was materially impossible to regain complete control and maintain entire order throughout the vast state, cleaning out the remnants of the once powerful army of Villa which had its original organization in the western regions."

In the house, Representative Slayden, democrat, of Texas, defended the recognition of General Carranza and declared that if order were not restored a Pan-American coalition of nations should do it.

Slayden Backs Wilson.

"The president did the proper and only possible thing in adopting the suggestion to recognize Carranza," said Mr. Slayden. "It was an intolerable condition and some one had to be recognized. The choice lay between Carranza and Villa, the unspeakable.

"I have been silent even when I thought serious mistakes were being made, leaving the whole matter in the hands of the president and the secretary of state. I am not criticising them.

"Horrors in Mexico are cumulative. Americans have been murdered singly and in squads.

"They have been shot even on their own territory. They have mysteriously disappeared. Mexicans have even invaded our territory under military command, killing Americans and stealing their property.

"The people of the border have been patient under an unparalleled series of outrages. They do not want war with Mexico, but they do want security for their lives and property. Their patience is near exhaustion. Their anger is great and growing. I deplore any rash action on their part, but he must be blind who cannot see the danger.

"When the internal affairs of any republic in either of the Americas becomes a scandal and nuisance, when offensive odors of them crosses international lines and cries of the victims fall on the ears of neighbors, threatening the peace of other countries, a Pan-American union could and should end them.

"Horror piled on horror, crime treading on the heels of crime, have exhausted the patience of the people of the border states and they will be satisfied with nothing short of the execution of the murderers of the latest victims of anarchy, which has gone on for five years."

Killing of Kramer.

The killing of Bart Kramer, an American, by Mexican bandits, was officially reported in dispatches to the state department today by Collector Cobb at El Paso. The collector reported Kramer was killed near Guierra, sixty miles west of Santa Ysabel, in Chihuahua.

The department was further informed that the band which killed the party of Americans Monday was commanded by two former Villa colonels, Lopez and Beltran. General Reyna also was said to have been in command of a part of the Mexican force. Accordign to the dispatches, 85 men were assigned to shoot the Americans. A force of about 500 men was reported near the scene, apparently held in reserve. After killing the Americans, today's dispatch said, the Mexicans robbed the train and later retired in the direction of Carretas.

Collector Cobb said that he had been informed that troop trains had been dispatched by the Carranza authorities in pursuit of the bandits, one going from Juarez and the other from Chihuahua.

Another dispatch to the department said General Villa recently had been seen near Chihuahua, but his present whereabouts was unknown.

Senator Sheppard today received a telegram from Dr. C. C. Young, of El Paso, stating that the dead Americans had been invited into the country by General Obregon. Senator Sheppard said he would lay the message before the state department.

Warned to Quit Mexico.

President Wilson told Senator Sheppard that the Americans had been specifically warned to keep out of Mexico, in reply to a suggestion from the senator that the situation was serious. Senator Sheppard said the president did not say what further action would be taken.

In regard to statements that General Obregon had urged American mining men to resume their work in Mexico, state department officials said no information to that effect had been received here, but it was understood general resumption of mining activity was the expressed hope of the Carranza authorities.

Secretary Lansing said today the department would prepare soon for the senate the information on the Mexican situation asked by Senator Fall's resolution.

Reports to the British embassy from the British vice consul at Chihuahua made no mention of the shooting near San Ysobel nor the later one reported near Madera. They referred to one British subject having been killed, but did not mention his name, and embassy officials assumed he referred to Peter Keane, whose death was reported yesterday.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice asked Secretary Lansing today for any information available regarding the British involved in the killings.

Resolution by Lewis.

When congress met the situation came up again. Senator Lewis, democrat, introduced a resolution authorizing the president to employ the army and navy in Mexico, in the same manner as they are now utilized to preserve peace and order in Nicaragua and Haiti. He asked that the resolution lie on the table for the present.

The resolution reads:

"Resolved, by the senate and the house of representatives, That the president of the United States be authorized and empowered to order the army of the United States or any necessary part thereof to the country of Mexico and there co-operate with any force there existing which, to the president shall seem appropriate for the object of protecting the citizens and property of the United States and to punish those violating the security of United States citizens, and to authorize the president to use the military and naval forces of the United States in Mexico to the same extent he now by law permitted the navy in Nicaragua and Haiti for the protection of American rights."

In the house, Representative Slayden, of Texas, declared the time had come for a Pan-American union to bring peace to Mexico and insisted that only the execution of the slayers of the Americans would satisfy the people of the border states.

"The rising anger of Americans on the border is dangerous and cannot be trifled with," he declared.

HEALTH OF KAISER IS REPORTED GOOD

Takes Usual Walks in Pleasant Weather, Says Berlin Dispatch — Rome Hears He Is Critically Ill.

Berlin, January 13.—(Via London.)—January 14.—Emperor William again is in good health. He no longer remains in his apartment, but takes his usual walks in Potsdam in pleasant weather.

The boil on the emperor's neck has so far healed that he is again wearing his uniform, but he leaves the high collar open to prevent pressure on the tender spot.

An official who conversed with the emperor Wednesday and Thursday said he was in exceptionally good spirits and that there was absolutely nothing to justify the pessimistic reports about him printed abroad.

London, January 13.—A wireless dispatch from Rome says that Queen Sophia of Greece has been summoned to the bedside of her brother, Emperor William, whose illness is described as serious. The queen, the message says, is to depart at once for Berlin.

The Berliner Tageblatt, on the other hand, according to a wireless dispatch from Berlin, states that the emperor is suffering from a boil that does not prevent him from walking out.

"The return to Berlin of Prince von Buelow, the former German chancellor, from his sojourn in Switzerland, was due to a summons to attend a council over which the crown prince will preside to deal with measures to be adopted if the emperor's illness is prolonged or an operation unsuccessful," says a dispatch to The Star from Rome.

"Meanwhile it is absolutely impossible to obtain any information even through neutral diplomatic sources regarding the emperor's condition," adds the dispatch. "Even the usual optimistic reports about his health are now being withheld."

Paris, January 13.—A Rome dispatch to The Journal says it has been learned from the Duke of Adraga, brother of the wife of Prince von Buelow, former German chancellor, that on account of Emperor William's illness the prince has been summoned suddenly to Berlin from Switzerland, where he has been staying for several months.

WILSON IS ASKED TO OUST EDWARDS

which the massacred Americans traveled to Santa Ysabel.

"General Gavira gave me positive assurances and a message was sent to General Trevino upon the matter. General Gavira assured me that forces were being sent by the way of the capital, and by way of Juares out over the line of the Mexico and Northwestern railroad to meet another, systematically to exterminate the bandits.

"None of these things was done."

Consul Edwards was instructed to demand of Mexican authorities the immediate protection of property of the Madera company at Madera and the Pearson property in western Chihuahua.

Returning Americans reported less than 500 Carranza troops in Chihuahua City. Fewer than 1,000 are in Juarez. Officials here expressed the belief that few men could be sent to guard the property of the Madera company, limited, in compliance with the demand of the United States.

Mining company officials expressed apprehension for the safety of foreigners in the Santa Barbara and Parral mining districts, where the Alvaro Mining company has operated all through the Mexican turmoil. Reports here indicated that bandits were headed toward these districts.

G. A. Merritt, Prominent Greene County Official, Ex-Legislator, Suicides

Greensboro, Ga., January 13.—(Special.)—Hon. George A. Merritt, ordinary of Greene county, killed himself this morning at 7 o'clock at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Ava Young, with whom he resided. He used a shotgun, placing it against his heart. The load went entirely through his body. He was breathing his last when his cousin, who heard the report of a gun, went in to investigate.

No cause is assigned for the rash deed except that he possibly brooded over his financial condition until his mind became unbalanced.

Mr. Merritt was 54 years old, and was a man of sterling qualities, beloved by all who knew him. He was one of the most prominent attorneys of Greene county, and was a member of the legislature in 1913-14. His mother, who is 86 years old, is completely prostrated by the shock. A gloom is cast over the entire community.

Besides his mother, Mr. Merritt is survived by a sister, Mrs. Tappan, of McRae, Ga.; a brother, Charles Merritt; a daughter, Miss Lila, who is a teacher in the public schools at Albany, Ga., and a son, George A. Merritt, Jr.

PROFESSIONAL YEGGMEN OPERATING IN ATLANTA

Wreck Safe in Office of Furniture Store, But Fail to Secure Any Money.

Professional yeggmen entered the furniture store of Campbell & Brownlee, 381 Edgewood avenue, early this morning, but failed in their attempt to open the safe. They had made one effort to blow the safe when officers appeared upon the scene. The yeggmen then left. The safe was badly damaged but there was no loss except that which was done to the safe and furniture in the office. It is believed they were experienced yeggmen.

HURONIAN TORPEDOED OFF COAST OF IRELAND

New York, January 13.—The new Leyland liner Huronian from Galveston was torpedoed on December 29 off the Irish coast, according to reports current in shipping circles today.

The International Mercantile Marine said that they had received a cablegram stating that the Huronian had met with injury and had been towed into port, but the message did not state what had caused the damage.

The Huronian sailed from Galveston bound for Liverpool on December 13. She was reported to have encountered a submarine not far from the spot where the Lusitania and Arabic were sunk. She was built in 1915 in Glasgow. She was 475 feet long and her registered gross tonnage is 8,766.

The Huronian carried a cargo consisting chiefly of cotton, corn and wheat valued at over $1,000,000, according to her published manifests.

London, January 13.—The British steamship Glengyle, sunk in the Mediterranean on January 2, was torpedoed without warning, according to a Havas dispatch today from Marseilles.

The same dispatch reports that the steamer Tafna, which arrived at Marseilles from Philippeville, escaped for the second time from a submarine by speed and clever maneuvering.

Captain Chester, of the Glengyle, and twenty men of the crew were picked up by the steamer Mossoul, the dispatch adds, while three Englishmen of the crew and seven Chinese were lost.

MRS. GOLDSTEIN DIES AFTER FALL ON THE SIDEWALK

She was carried to a residence at 85 Capitol avenue and died a few minutes later. Conjestion of the lung was said to be the cause of her death. Mrs. Goldstein is survived by her husband, C. Goldstein; three sons, M. M., Sam and Abe Goldstein; four daughters, Annie, Ida, Katie and Mary Goldstein. The body is at the chapel of Greenberg & Bond.

January May Smash All Monthly Records At Local Postoffice

That all monthly records for postoffice receipts will be broken during the present month is indicated by figures compiled and made public yesterday by Postmaster Bolling H. Jones.

On the night of January 12, 1914, receipts amounted to $49,470.90. On the night of January 12, 1916, the receipts aggregated $55,756.10, an increase of $6,285.20 over the banner month in the history of the local office. The gain of 10½ per cent during the early portion of the month is most encouraging, and it is the confident expectation of the postal officials that the complete report for this month will be the best ever issued.

The increase in business for the first twelve days of the present month over the first twelve days of the same month of last year is $3,167.79.

AUSTRIA'S VICTORY GIVES FAST GRIP ON ADRIATIC

critics point out that Austria thereby gains domination of the Adriatic coast and, furthermore, will be able to invade northern Albania.

Italian newspapers appeal to the allies for immediate intervention to spare Montenegro from the fate of Serbia. King Nicholas of Montenegro is quoted as saying:

"Lovcen is the Olympus of our race, the cradle of the dynasty, the stronghold which resisted the invasion of the Turks, even when they reached the walls of Vienna. Lovcen is more precious than if it were a colossal diamond."

TURKS AND TEUTONS MOVE ON SALONIKI.

Rome, January 13.—(Via Paris.)—The attack of the Teutonic allies on the entente forces defending Saloniki is being developed on a large scale, according to the Athens correspondent of the The Giornale D'Italie telegraphing under Tuesday's date. He reports that a bombardment of the British line to the Doiran zone proceeded all day Monday.

The German commander of the attacking forces, says the correspondent, will make use of Austrian, Bulgarian and Turkish forces. The participation of the Turks has been doubtful, he adds, but it is now certain that they will be included in the attacking party.

FRENCH BLOW UP IMPORTANT BRIDGE.

London, January 13.—Uncomfirmed reports that the attack of the Teutonic allies on the entente forces at Saloniki had begun are followed today by the announcement in a Saloniki dispatch from French engineers, as a precautionary measure, have blown up the importat railroad bridge over the Struma river at Demir-Hissar, northern Greece.

The Demir-Hissar bridge spans the Struma about 50 miles northeast of Saloniki, just south of the Bulgarian frontier, one of the probable first points of contact between a force moving from Bulgaria against the right of the allies' Saloniki defenses.

SADAGURA CAPTURED, CRITICS BELIEVE.

The news from the eastern front of the capture of Sadagura is regarded in military circles as probably true, although official announcement on the subject has not been received.

The town, which lies a few miles northeast of Czernowitz, and is a converging point for five good roads, is of considerable strategic importance and previous attempts to capture it have been stoutly resisted.

Experts said Sadagura is really of more importance than Czernowitz on account of its stronger natural position and facilities for communication purposes.

The report from Petrograd that the offensive in Galicia and Bessarabia had been suspended for the present is regarded as at least premature. The Russian offensive could not, it is believed, be suspended suddenly, as it was undertaken after careful preparation and launched with unexpected strength. The object of that offensive is said to be three-fold: To demonstrate to the Rumanians that the Russian forces are able to assume the initative when they choose; secondly, to divert Austro-German forces from the Balkans and western front, and, finally, to improve the general strategic position of their own left flank.

MOVE RELIEVES BALKAN SITUATION.

While the full effect of this Russian offensive cannot yet be determined, entente military experts affrm that the second object was attained, that the situation in the Balkans was sensibly relieved and that the operation undertaken by the Germans against the French in Champagne was robbed of its force.

The fact that the French flag is now waving over the palace on the island of Corfu, which belonged to the German emperor and that the occupation of the Greek island by the entente is considered as complete, has, it is reported, already evoked a protest from the Greek government. It is said that the protest is largely formal and that the allies have given Greece guarantees regarding their intentions. Greece, it is understood, takes a sympathetic view of the entente action as it is for the purpose of preventing the Serbian army from risking the danger of starvation.

The German offensive in Champagne, which reached its culmination Sunday, is insistently reported from French headquarters as having been undertaken on an important scale and with a definite military purpose. The failure is declared to have been complete and the strong German forces which were employed suffered terrible losses.

MONTENEGRINS PREPARE TO EVACUATE CAPITAL.

Paris, January 13.—In view of the success of the Austrian offensive against Mount Lovcen, measures have been taken by the Montenegrin government to evacuate Cettinje immediately, according to a Scutari dispatch, says The Petit Journal's Milan correspondent.

The government, however, has decided to continue the struggle against the Austrians, the dispatch adds.

Austrian forces advancing from Cattaro and Budna have reached Mitchits, five miles from Antivari, which is being bombarded by the Austrian long range guns, according to a dispatch to L'Oeuvre, under Tuesday's date.

The correspondent telegraphing from Scutari says that the Montenegrins, aided by Serbian contingents, are making a stout resistance although outnumbered five to one.

GASES BLOWN BACK AGAINST GERMANS.

Paris, January 13.—(Via London.)—The war office statement today reads:

"Between the Somme and the Avre last night the enemy attempted a surprise attack against one of our small positions. The attack was a complete failure.

"In the Champagne the enemy made two surprise attacks with hand grenades, one to the northeast of Butte de Mesnil, the other in the district of Maisons de Champagne. They were checked at once by our curtain of fire.

"Further information regarding the attack attempted yesterday by the Germans with the use of suffocating gases in the region of Forges shows that in the course of the operation a gust of wind blew back the gases to the trenches of the enemy. Our bombardment of the enemy's line was very violent."

ARTILLERY ACTIVE ON BELGIAN FRONT.

Paris, January 13.—The official statement of the Belgian war office issued tonight says:

"Artillery activity is reported on all sides and particularly in the region to the north of Steenstraete."

BRITISH AND FRENCH ATTACKS REPULSED.

Berlin, January 13.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—A strong British attack near Armentieres and two French onslaughts in the Champagne were repulsed by the Germans, the war office announced today.

The statement follows:

"Western front: Northeast of Armentieres an attack by a strong British detachment was repulsed.

"Early this morning the French renewed their attacks in the Champagne. An attempted advance northeast of Le Mesnil was repulsed. An attack against a portion of the trenches captured by the Germans on January 9 near Maisons de Champagne also failed.

"Lieutenants Boelke and Immelmann each shot down a British aeroplane, one northeast of Tourcoing, the other near Bapaume. In recognition of their accomplishments both were decorated with the Order of Pour le Merite by his majesty the emperor.

"A third British aeroplane was shot down in an aerial fight near Roubaix and a fourth was brought down by our defense guns near Ligney, northwest of Lille. Of the eight British officers on the four aeroplanes six were killed and two wounded.

"Eastern front: Detachments of German patrol fought successful engagements at several places.

"Near Novo Syolski, between the Olshanko and the Beresina the Russians were ejected from their advanced trenches."

GREEKS RESISTED FRENCH AT BRIDGE.

Athens, January 12.—(Via London, January 13.)—There was an incident between the Greek and the entente allied troops when the latter blew up the iron bridge over the Struma river at Demir-Hissar.

The officer commanding the Greek guard at the bridge ordered his men to resist the accomplishment by the entente allied troops of their purpose, and at the same time requested reinforcements. While awaiting the arrival of the reinforcements the bridge was blown up and the entente allies then withdrew, thus avoiding further difficulty.

GUNNERS ARE ACTIVE ON ITALIAN FRONT.

Rome, January 13.—(Via London.)—The following official communication from general headquarters was issued today:

"Along the whole front artillery activity continues, aided by aeroplanes. The enemy's batteries hurled incendiary projectiles on our position around Altissimo and in the valley of Terragnole and on the Borgo, without damage.

"Our artillery destroyed enemy shelters east of Oregione pass and at Visdende and dispersed troops and revictualling columns on the march in the Roder valley and Seebach. In the sector of Javornik, in the Plezzo basin, and San Martino del Carso, we repulsed enemy minor attacks.

"On the lower Isonzo the enemy artillery fired on Gradisca, Sagrado and Monfalcone. Our artillery responded, bombarding Devataki and Oppachiasella. On Tuesday one of our aeroplanes dropped bombs on a barracks in the Breguzzo zone, in the valley of Gindicau, returning unharmed."

5 NEW HAVEN DIRECTORS MUST FACE TRIAL AGAIN

Washington, January 13.—Retrial of five former directors of the New Haven railroad under indictment for conspiracy to violate the criminal provision of the Sherman anti-trust law was ordered tonight by Attorney General Gregory. William Rockefeller, Lewis Cass Ledyard, Edward D. Robbins, Charles F. Brooker and Charles M. Pratt are the five in whose cases a jury in New York disagreed last Sunday.

Mr. Gregory announced at the same time that the cases against George F. Baker, Theodore N. Vail, T. Dewitt Cuyler, Francis T. Maxwell, Edward Milligan and Alexander Cochrane, indicted on the same charge and granted separate trials, would be dismissed.

The date on which the government will seek to begin the new proceedings was not decided today.

The attorney general announced the position of his department in the following statement:

"As heretofore stated by Mr. Batts, the defendants with respect to whom the jury disagreed, namely, Lewis Cass Ledyard, Edward D. Robbins, William Rockefeller, Charles F. Brooker and Charles M. Pratt, will be retired.

"Certain defendants not connected with the affairs of the New Haven company until 1910 or thereafter were granted a severance by the court. The prosecution will be dismissed as to them."

It was said tonight that the determination not to continue the cases against Messrs. Baker, Vail and others was reached because they did not become connected with the New Haven board until recent years, and were not interested in many of the acts of which the government complained.

FRANCE TO LEND MONEY FOR PURCHASE OF SHIPS

Paris, January 13.—To meet the transportation crisis resulting from the shortage of maritime shipping facilities the government has decided to ask parliament to authorize an advance by the treasury of 100,000,000 francs to shipowners, so that they may increase their fleets by purchase of allied or neutral vessels.

The government's bill will be presented to the chamber of deputies tomorrow. The preamble says that after examining various plans to facilitate the provisioning of the country, lessen the drain on national wealth occasioned by high freight rates and assure future development of the merchant marine, the government has decided that the best method is to encourage private initiative by assisting owners to purchase allied or neutral steamers.

The bill, therefore, authorizes the treasury to make advances to shipowners, on the approval of the ministry of marine, up to the sum of 100,000,000 francs for the acquisition of steamships. These funds will be loaned at the rate of interest charged by the Bank of France for advances on securities.

Such loans will be made from the date of promulgation of the bill until one year after the end of the war. The maximum proportion of the maximum price of vessels to be advanced is fixed at 70 per cent for companies already owning 20,000 tons of shipping or more and 80 per cent for those owning less than this amount, or for new enterprises. Repayment is to be made in the case of companies of the first-class in three annual sums, in the case of the second-class in four installments, and by fishing companies in eight payments. In each case the first installment will be payable one year after the time of the purchase.

The steamships will be examined by government experts before they are bought. They must be in good navigable condition, and guaranteed free from all mortgage or lien at the time of sale.

SHUPTRINE WILL QUIT LEGISLATURE

Resignation Will Cause Political Fight in Which Prohibition Will Figure—Harris and Pierpont Letters Made Public.

Savannah, Ga., January 3.—(Special.) Savannah's politics was further complicated late tonight by the announcement from Representative Herman C. Shuptrine that he would resign before the legislature meets. The opponents of Mayor Pierpont are very gleeful over this development, as they see in it an opportunity to make a fight before the people in the hope of electing Mr. Shuptrine's successor, a man who is in hearty accord with their liberal views, on the enforcement of the prohibition laws.

If Senator Lawrence and Representative Myrick could elect a man on their ticket over one put out by the Pierpont administration they would be in a position to represent to the legislature that the voters of Savannah had passed upon the claims of the two factions.

Mayor Pierpont's friends and advisors expressed confidence tonight when the situation was explained to them that they would be able to elect a law-enforcement member of the Chatham delegation, and seemed to welcome the test of strength. No names have as yet been suggested for the place.

Letters Are Made Public.

Mayor Pierpont today gave out the letters he and Governor Harris exchanged on the question of enforcing the prohibition law in Savannah. The mayor's letter was delivered to the governor in person Monday by Secretary Thomas Gamble.

The text of the letters follows:

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 10, 1916.

Hon. Nathan Harris, Governor, Atlanta, Ga. My Dear Governor Harris:

"I appreciate that among the responsibilities of your high office none takes higher rank with you than the enforcement of the laws of the state.

"I have been informed that you have entertained some fears, growing out of the conditions that have existed here for some years, that you would experience trouble in having the recently-enacted anti-liquor laws enforced in Savannah.

"In this connection it gives me pleasure to relieve your mind on that score. It is my fixed determination and purpose, as mayor of the city and the official head of its police force, to enforce these laws.

"While I am mayor there will be no temporizing with those who may seek to violate these laws. My oath of office calls me to enforce the laws of Georgia and I intend to do my full duty in that respect.

"Any member of the police force who cannot, or does not do his full duty in the detection of violators of the laws, will be removed and his place given to a man who not only knows his duty but is prepared to do it.

"Inside of the corporate limits of the city of Savannah the sale of liquors of any kind will stop at midnight on April 29, and every visible sign that liquors have ever been sold here will be removed.

"I write you this simply that you may know that you will have the open, unlimited and sympathetic co-operation of the mayor of Savannah in the rigid and unwavering enforcement of these laws.

"Wishing you god speed in the performance of your duties as the chief executive of the state, I am with sincere regards

(Signed.) "W. P. PIERPONT, Mayor."

Governor Replies.

The governor's answer follows:

"Atlanta, Ga., January 11, 1916.

"Hon. Wallace J. Pierpont, Mayor, Savannah, Ga.—My Dear Mr. Mayor: I had your letter of January 8 through Mr. Gamble, your secretary, and I appreciate same very highly indeed.

"I had been informed by some friends from Savannah that you entertained the fixed determination and purpose referred to in your letter. I cannot tell you how glad I was to know that the information was correct.

"I recognize the fact that the enforcement of the law will depend largely upon the efforts of the local authorities in each community. If they are lukewarm and indifferent there will be great danger of failure. Georgia is now on trial and if we do not succeed there will be no hope in the future for our people along these lines.

"I am fully determined while I am in office to do all that the constitution and the laws allow me to do to secure a fair trial of the prohibition law, in order that the state may know just what good there is in them. So you can understand how grateful to me were your assurances of support in the great city by the sea. With kindest regards, I am sincerely and truly your friend.

(Signed) "N. E. HARRIS, "Governor."

Atlantan to Return To Mexico Despite Killing of Citizens

Despite the flood of press dispatches that Americans are being butchered by banditti and Villa followers in the Chihuahua district of Mexico, Charles M. Brown, sone of Dr. George Brown, a prominent Atlantan and former member of the legislature, left Atlanta last fight to return to his old home near Mexico City.

With Mr. Brown is his pretty little Mexican wife and several children. He left Mexico shortly after the disturbance at Vera Cruz, due to the internal disturbance in which Americans were placed in a serious position.

Now he thinks that things have quieted down enough in Mexico for him to safely return.

Mr. Brown for ten years has been connected with an American silver mining company at Pachuca, state of Hidalgo, 90 miles from Mexico City. Recently he has been living in South Carolina.

In the revolution in Mexico City two years ago Mr. Brown was one of the volunteer guards around the American legation when trouble threatened Minister Henry L. Wilson.

Mrs. Brown, who still prefers her Spanish to English, is confident that her children will be safe in turbulent Mexico.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and many thinmen and women we believe can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it aims to turn the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepare it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. Much of this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol works to stop the waste and do it quickly and to make the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive.

Jacobs' Pharmacies, Atlanta, and other leading druggists in this vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in each large box.

Banks of Atlanta Will Help Boost Chamber Membership; Corporations Will Do Part

Big Business Enterprises Are Planning to Take Ten Memberships Each and Distribute Them Among Their Young Executives.

About 150 workers on the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce membership committee kept busy throughout Thursday, with the result that since Wednesday at noon, when the last reports were received at a luncheon, 272 new members have been added to the list, according to telephone reports received at the chamber last night from the heads of the various committees.

The figures for the membership campaign now stand as follows:

|---|---|
| Membership Tuesday morning | 1,040 |
| New members at noon, Tuesday | 133 |
| New members at noon, Wednesday | 166 |
| New members since Wednesday | 272 |
| Total membership now | 1,611 |

Campaign Continues Today.

The campaign will be waged furiously this morning in an effort to reach the goal of 2,000 members before the luncheon at 12:30 o'clock, which will be held at the chamber of commerce.

A new feature was injected into the campaign on Thursday at a meeting of representatives of the seven clearing house banks of Atlanta. The banks proposed to take out ten sustaining memberships for each bank, making a total of 70 memberships from these institutions.

Several of the largest corporations of the city have already notified the chamber of commerce that they will take out ten memberships, each, which they will distribute among the young executive officials of their companies. These corporations and banks have become alive to the fact that they have been losing golden opportunities to develop and broaden their young men by active participation in the constructive work of the chamber of commerce.

Hawkins Favors Plan.

Frank Hawkins, president of the Third National bank, who attended Thursday's meeting of bankers, last night stated that he was in favor of the clearing house banks taking out sustaining membership in the chamber.

"One of the most important thoughts brought in in the conference of bankers at the chamber of commerce today," said Mr. Hawkins last night, "was that a commercial organization must have builders as well as financial backers. A city does not grow; it is built. One might be ready to invest millions of dollars in a magnificent structure, but he would be powerless to put his plan in action without real workers, as well as ready funds.

"The suggestion of having the larger corporations and banking institutions of Atlanta take sustaining memberships in the chamber of commerce, each to carry with it ten or more active voting seats in the chamber, appealed to me very strongly, inasmuch as it would make it possible for these corporations to distribute such among their younger executives and heads of departments. In this way the coming generation of Atlanta's city builders would be brought into actual service and trained to take the places of those whom we all honor and love, but must regretfully admit, are fast reaching the time of life when their active participation in the modern commercial battle can hardly be expected."

Brown Indorses Plan.

J. Epps Brown, first vice president of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, which has a number of memberships in the chamber of commerce and is now considering taking out a number of extra sustaining memberships to be distributed among the company's younger executive officers for their special training along constructive lines, gave out an interesting interview on the ideas of corporations joining the chamber of commerce on the wholesale scale.

"There is no business so big and none so small, which is not directly benefited by the constructive work of the chamber of commerce, and the question of having a strong, live, wideawake chamber of commerce is simply a question of having the proper support of the community it serves," said Mr. Brown. "Speaking for the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, we have felt that if the chamber of commerce was successful in securing results along any of its many constructive lines of activity, in the building of a bigger and better city, the telephone company would realize some benefit, and predicated upon that idea we have unselfishly given to the chamber the strongest possible support, both in the way of corporate and individual membership in that organization, as well as in the way of individual work and assistance in connection with the many problems which it handles.

"The corporations in Atlanta, regardless of their size or character, have a distinct interest in all of the activities of the chamber of commerce and should not only bear their proper proportion of the expenses incident to the carrying on of such work, but through their official representatives should render, in membership and actual personal service, that aid and cooperation which is essential to the accomplishment of the greatest good. Not only should they do this but they should encourage and stimulate among those of their employees who are coming along through a process of training to fill the positions which the present officials now hold, to take an interest in the work of the chamber and to manifest that interest by not only becoming members, but attending meetings and assisting in the work of the various committees."

HIDE AND SEEK CONDUCT CAUSED ROBINSON'S ARREST

Blake Robinson, a young white man, was held to the grand jury under bond of $200 by Recorder Johnson in police matinee Thursday afternoon for attempted burglary of a store at 195 Marietta street Wednesday night.

According to Officer R. M. Lasseter, who arrested Robinson, the latter was dodging in and out of doorways for about half an hour on Marietta street Wednesday night, and finally, after leaving one door, sound of breaking glass was heard.

"I watched him for several minutes," said Lasseter, "and finally decided that he was just keeping in out of the rain. I turned my back and about that time heard a window glass smash. Running to 195 Marietta street, Robinson was just coming out of the doorway. He told me that he had seen a man smash the glass and run, but there was no one else on the street."

Robinson protested his innocence and claimed that he had been just dodging the rain and had really seen a man smash the glass and run.

Negroes Given Fines By Recorder Johnson After a Church Riot

Following a trial of four negroes in police matinee Thursday afternoon on charges of disorderly conduct, made against them by Officers Hughes and Hudson, Recorder Johnson decided that there was almost a riot in a negro church at the corner of West Hunter and Chestnut streets Thursday night. F. E. Caison, Simon Wilson, M. W. Keith, Ida Keith and Frank Williamson were the negroes arrested by Hudson and Hughes, following a call to the West Hunter Negro Baptist church. The two Keiths were each fined $10.75 for inciting the disorder and the others were released.

The officers testified that when they had arrived at the church they had found the whole congregation, composed of some fifty or seventy-five negroes, in an uproar. It appeared, according to their statements, that part of the congregation was in favor of the preacher, Rev. Robert R. Smith, and the other part was violently opposed to him.

In trying to arrange a settlement of the difficulty, the officers stated that they were attacked by the Keiths, and for a while things looked dangerous, with brickbats coming through the windows of the church, thrown by negroes on the outside, and lively fist play on the inside.

INJURED IN A FALL, STEVENS NOW BETTER

The condition of H. C. Stevens, deputy clerk of the municipal court, who sustained injuries in a fall while at a friend's residence on Grant place Wednesday night, was announced as improved Thursday night. Mr. Stevens slipped and fell when leaving his friend's residence. He was picked up unconscious, having struck the pavement on his head, and was rushed to a private hospital.

WILKINSON ELECTED MAYOR BY AD MEN

"I Have Never Seen Business Conditions So Promising," He Tells Club.

Mell R. Wilkinson was elected mayor of Atlanta by a unanimous vote at the most enthusiastic meeting in the history of the Atlanta Ad club when that body gathered at luncheon in the ballroom of the Hotel Ansley yesterday at noon.

The proposed mayor was the guest of honor. He delivered a stirring address, urging his hearers to work for a bigger and greater Atlanta; pleading for co-operation, team work, and extolling the spirit of the recall leaders, who had gracefully accepted their defeat and at once joined in a movement for the betterment of the city.

He was elected a life member of the Ad club. In this respect, Julian V. Boehm, president of the organization, stated: "When he is once elected to this body, his election to the mayoralty is a foregone conclusion." Upon motion, the club took a rising vote to elect him to both offices.

Praises Commissioners.

Mr. Wilkinson bestowed praise upon the county commissioners for their unselfish work for the Southeastern Fair association, stating that although the project was that of the city of Atlanta, the commission had not only contributed their share in funds, but had given equally as much in labor.

Touching upon business conditions, the speaker pronounced the present outlook to be the most roseate in his entire business life. "I have never seen conditions so promising," he said, "nor a prospect so favorable."

"It is the most auspicious new year I have ever beheld," he stated.

"I want to commend the group of workers who are lending their efforts in behalf of the chamber of commerce," he said. "Atlanta does not begin to realize the vast benefits it derives from that institution. I am assured that the chamber will accomplish more in the ensuing year than at any other time in its history."

In speaking of the recall election, he stated:

"In regard to the recent election—which we all feared—I have changed my mind. It has done good, where we were afraid it would do unlimited harm. It has served to clarify the atmosphere, and I am delighted to see the recall leaders asserting a willingness—yea, even an eagerness—to cooperate in all movements to the city's advantage.

Prefers Side Lines.

"In truth, I now see nothing to retard us. For my part, I would rather work on the side lines in the city's behalf, and be just a useful citizen. I can do more in that direction, I believe, than in any other capacity. But I am grateful to know the people think of me as they apparently do, and as long as I live in your midst I will try to see that you do not think of me otherwise."

A feature of the meeting was the proposal of Colonel J. C. Woodward to favor national preparedness. Following a brief appeal by Colonel Woodward, the club adopted resolutions to that effect.

The first minister to be made a member of the club was elected, when Dr. Henry Alford Porter, new pastor of the Second Baptist church, was nominated at the close of his address. Furthermore, the club, at the invitation of the minister, passed a resolution to "all go to church" at the first opportunity.

IN AUTO ACCIDENT FOURTEEN SPILLED; ONLY ONE IS HURT

An automobile with five passengers, driven by Mr. Thomas Murray, accidentally struck a two-horse wagon driven by Peter Nunnally and having nine passengers of all ages and sizes aboard, late last night a mile from Athens, and both vehicles were overturned, fourteen people being scattered over the ground. Only one was hurt, Frank Arrington, who had an arm broken.

BREAK UP BRONCHIAL COUGHS, CROUP AND COLDS PROMPTLY

Make the Best Remedy at Home—128 Teaspoonsful for 50 Cents.

Don't neglect your first cold, cough or any Bronchial affection this fall, but commence treatment immediately, and through using the proper medicine, it can be checked from the very start and promptly cured, but if neglected probably will hang on all winter; if it does not develop into something more serious, such as Pneumonia or Consumption. True, there are hundreds, yes, thousands of cough remedies on the market. While some are good, there are many which are not, but are positively harmful, due to the narcotics which they contain. But why experiment with these different remedies purely on the strength perhaps of some testimonials or on the exaggerated claims of manufacturers, when Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectorant is sold by Jacobs' Drug Stores on such a positive guarantee to give perfect satisfaction, yes, even more—money will be refunded by them if it is not found the best remedy ever used in Severe Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough or Crup, and it will also be found excellent for Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. Besides these druggists guaranteeing "that it will be the best remedy ever used," it will likewise be found the most economical, because one bottle (50 cents' worth) makes a full pint (128 teaspoonful) of the most excellent medicine for any of the above affections, when mixed at home with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of water. It makes as much, or more, than would cost you $2.00 to $3.00 of almost any of the ordinary ready-made kinds, sold in bottles holding only 24 to 32 teaspoonsful. You will be the sole judge yourself and under the same positively "Money Back" guarantee which the druggists make for the famous Asthmador. Absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy.

Basketball and Dancing At Atlanta Athletic Club

Of social and sporting importance on Saturday night will be the basketball game at the Atlanta Athletic club, when the club team plays the University of Georgia team.

Miss Maud Perkins has been chosen sponsor for the Athletic club, and Miss Florine Hardwick, of Cedartown, will be sponsor for the college men.

A five-pound box of candy will be awarded the young lady who guesses nearest the number of points scored by both teams, and a three-pound box to the young lady making the second best guess.

Special interest attaches to this game, since the Athletic club team has made so fine a showing during the present season, and the University, which has always a good team, are the most serious contestants for the southern championship.

A dance will close the evening's enjoyment.

Alumnae of Lucy Cobb Form Branch in Atlanta

One hundred "Lucy Cobb girls" who are now alumnae of the famous school in Athens assembled at Hotel Piedmont yesterday at the call of Miss Mildred Rutherford, who was last June made president of the entire alumnae association, and a local branch was formed.

Mrs. Alfred Newell was elected president and another meeting will be called at an early date to form a permanent organization.

The business part of the meeting was a mere incident, however, in comparison with the reunion feature, which was one of happiest spirit. Loving tribute was paid Miss Rutherford, the meeting becoming a reception in her honor, and reminiscence was quickened by the collection of photographs she exhibited, these showing groups from many classes, the classes as a whole and individual pictures.

The primary purpose of the alumnae is to keep alive in the hearts of the members the love and loyalty they have for alma mater.

Miss Rutherford extended all those present a cordial invitation to the alumnae meeting in Athens at commencement time, and she expects to visit a number of cities where there are many Lucy Cobb graduates to form similar associations. She goes from here to Birmingham.

There are 220 alumnae in Atlanta, and while all could not be present yesterday, they have expressed themselves as enthusiastic over the idea of organizing.

President to Assist Big Cotton Shipment Planned for Germany

Washington, January 13.—H. N. Pope, president of the Texas farmers' union, accompanied by Senator Sheppard, told President Wilson today of the union's plan for sending a million bales of cotton to Germany by way of Rotterdam in American ships and asked for assurances for protection against British seizure. Senator Sheppard said the president promised to do all he could.

Cotton is on both the British and German contraband lists and the legality of that action is now the subject of diplomatic correspondence. The cotton men say they have no objection to British seizure if they get the 27 cents a pound they are promised in Germany. The market price is 12 cents. That is what the British have been paying on seizures.

HEAVY EARTHQUAKES RECORDED AT CAPITAL

Washington, January 13.—Two heavy earthquakes were recorded early today on the seismographs of Georgetown university observatory. They were very pronounced and were centered approximately between 2,600 and 2,700 miles from Washington.

The first tremors were recorded at 2.04 a. m. They continued until 3 o'clock, reaching their maximum at about 2:33 o'clock.

The second disturbance commenced at 3:43 a. m., and continued until after 6 o'clock, its maximum being reached at 4:31 a. m.

The greatest movement during both disturbances was north and south. The records were not easily read and determination of the location of the center of the disturbance was impossible. It is considered probable the quake was one of those which have been shaking Central America for some weeks past.

Al Jennings a Fine Bandit, Says Victim Now in Atlanta

H. H. Halladay, of Greensboro, N. C., believes that if Al Jennings, former bandit, is "as good a preacher as he was a bandit he is a pippin," but that does not quench in the bosom of Mr. Halladay a strong yearning to recover from Mr. Jennings the sum of $21 and a gold watch.

Because the money and the watch are missing is why Mr. Halladay knows how good a bandit Mr. Jennings was, and, ergo, how good a preacher he is if he is as good a preacher as he was a bandit.

Mr. Halladay is stopping at the Piedmont hotel. As he strolled through the lobby last night he saw a poster at the clerk's desk announcing the engagement of the former bandit to speak at the Baptist tabernacle tonight.

Mr. Halladay glanced at the poster, which bore a picture of Jennings, and mused:

"Takes me back twenty years," he said. "Twenty years and maybe more. If that man is as good a preacher as he was a bandit, he is pippin. It was about twenty years ago that I stood in front of his six-shooter at Chickasha siding, in what was then Indian territory, and delivered over to him $21 and my gold watch. That was a good watch, too—kept fine time. I wish I were going to be in Atlanta while he is here. I think I would call him aside and discuss the matter with him. It seems to me that genuine reform ought to involve the restitution of stolen goods. He stands me in just that watch and $21.

"That thing was pretty slick—that hold-up. Al Jennings and his crowd let it leak out in Wichita that they were going to hold up the train. As a consequence a good many folks who intended to go on that train waited over in Wichita until the next day, and I was among those who waited. The train left heavily guarded, but nothing happened, and the next day the train left without guards. Everybody who waited over thought it was a false alarm and got on the train. I went, too. The result was that there were about twice as many people on the train as there would otherwise have been, and Al and his crowd held up the train—stopped it at Chickasha Siding and marched us all out and stood us up. Then they took up collection!

"I saw a moving picture of the same incident in Oklahoma last summer. Hadn't thought of it in years before. But I'd surely like to get that $21 and watch back!"

Mr. Halladay leaves this morning for Lakeland, Fla., where he is interested in a large land deal. He expects to get back through Atlanta before long, when he may call Al. Jennings aside and discuss with him the matter of that watch and $21!

MEXICANS ARE BEING DRIVEN FROM EL PASO

later they declared they "had cleaned up El Paso street," in the business section.

Earlier in the evening four soldiers dispersed patrons of a Mexican saloon. The pounding and jailing of suspected Villa adherents continued during the early part of the night. Street brawls between Mexicans and Americans were frequent.

Clashes on Street.

By 10 o'clock it was reported that knives frequently were used and all ambulances in the city were rushing through the streets, while physicians were hurried to all parts of the city. Most of the fights were between American soldiers and Mexicans.

Police reserves were called out, and the order was given to keep the people moving in all downtown streets.

Police at all hotels are searching out Mexicans and advising their departure. Reports were current late tonight of a secret meeting of cattle and mining men to organize the proposed punitive expedition in Mexico immediately with or without the consent of the Carranza government.

Reports from Chihuahua City said General Trevino, with 800 men, were in the Santa Ysabel district hunting for Villa and his band. Chihuahua City was said to be practically destitute of troops.

Americans Plan Hunt.

An appeal from the state department at Washington communicated to Andres G. Garcia, Mexican consul, that adequate protection be furnished foreign lives and property, was met with the announcement that the de facto government forces were being sent to the bandit-ridden sections of Western Chihuahua. No definite action had been taken tonight on the proposal to organize one thousand American mining men to run down Villa bandits guilty of the massacre of eighteen foreigners at Santa Ysabel, whose bodies reached here today. Sanction of the Carranza officials, it was announced, was to be sought for this project.

Three Americans Slain.

Confirmation of the execution of three other Americans was received in advices from Chihuahua. George F. Parsons met death while prospecting near the Babricora ranch, where Peter Keane was killed several weeks ago. The third was Bart Kramer, killed in the Guerrero district.

The capture of General Jose Rodrigues, a former Villa general, by Americans and a few Carranza soldiers, was related in a message from Madera and later confirmed by the Mexican consulate here. These advices reported that Rodrigues's band has been killed or captured and contained a request from the Americans for aid. Earlier reports had connected Rodrigues with the Santa Ysabel massacre, but subsequently passengers on the ill-fated train declared General Reynau and Colonels Lopez and Beltran possibly ordered the execution of foreigners.

Reporting to General G. Gaviera, at Juarez, a dispatch from Colonel Antonio Macias at Pearson said:

Almeida Is Executed.

"Just now I am in receipt of a telegram from Colonel Maximo Marquez, who on the 9th surrendered to me, that yesterday he fought several bands of Villistas that were plundering the surrounding country and had completely defeated them, capturing General Jose Rodrigues and Almeida and several other officers. He advises Almeida was promptly executed and that he was holding Rodriguez prisoner. I am sending troops at once to reinforce Marquez."

The defeat of 3,500 Carranza troops yesterday near Escalon by General Benjamin Argumedo was announced by a messenger, who was said to have arrived at the home of General Victoriano Huerta. The messenger stated Argumedo's 5,000 troops were gathered in Oaxaca by Generals Blaquet, Mondragon and Aguilar, former Huerta commanders.

Roosevelt Urged to Act.

A proposed telegram to Theodore Roosevelt asking him to use his influence with congress to secure a "change in the policy of this government" towards Mexico was circulated here today, but it had not been sent early tonight.

Efforts to confine signatures to persons without property in Mexico apparently were abandoned when many mining men insisted upon attaching their names.

Miguel Diaz Lombardo, former minister of foreign affairs in the Villa government, who never renounced his affiliation, and General Jose Prieto were arrested on a charge of vagrancy and held under $1,000 bond.

Commenting on the arrests, Captain W. D. Green, of the El Paso police, said: "Every Villa leader in El Paso will be run out of town."

Double Funeral Held.

A double funeral for E. L. Robinson, said to have been a British subject, and Maurice Anderson, two of the Santa Ysabel victims, was held today. Services for other El Paso victims will be held later and tonight several bodies were ready for shipment or had been forwarded to homes in other cities.

The body of George W. Newman will be sent to Keene, N. H.; Alexander Hall to Douglas, Ariz.; C. J. Pringle to San Francisco; A. H. Couch, said to be a Canadian citizen, to Barnhart, Texas; W. D. Pearce to Los Angeles, and H. C. Hase to Kansas City.

The bodies of Thomas W. Evans, W. J. Wallace, W. P. Machatton, Charles Wadleigh, Thomas Johnson, J. W. Wood, R. H. Simons and M. B. Romero were held for advices from relatives. It was learned today that Romero, previously reported a Mexican, was a citizen of the United States, with relatives at Santa Fe, N. M.

The funeral of C. R. Watson probably will be held here Saturday.

Villa Is Blamed.

Reports to the state department from local representatives were understood to express the belief that General Francisco Villa personally was back of an organized campaign to wipe out Americans in Chihuahua for revenge and in the hope that it would bring American intervention and break up the Carranza government.

Activities in civilian circles included a movement to organize 1,000 American mining men to run down Mexican bandits. Sponsors of the project stated that the proposal would be submitted to Carranza officials and their approval requested.

A telegram appealing to Theodore Roosevelt to use his influence with congress to bring "a change in the policy of the national government" was circulated among bankers and business men with the proviso that no one having interests in Mexico be permitted to sign it.

Report Not Verified.

The report from Chihuahua that ten Americans and two English women had been killed at Madera could not be confirmed here. Neither was there verification for a rumor that three Americans had been murdered in the Cananea district of Sonora.

Bodies of the Santa Ysabel victims were being prepared for reforwarding to their homes.

General Jose Rodrigues has been captured near Madera, Chihuahua, by Americans, according to a message received from Madera, which stated that a number of Rodrigues's men were killed and that the Americans are calling for help.

The capture was made by Maximiano Marquez, it was said. He is an employee of the Hearst interests at Babricora, and is now at Madera keeping order with 125 Americans and a few soldiers. The message stated that Rodriguez was met in a pitched battle, defeated and his men scattered, captured and killed.

General Jose Rodrigues was charged in first reports with responsibility for the massacre of the Americans at Santa Ysabel. Reports of Mexicans on the train, however, charged General Reyna, Colonel Pablo Lopez and General Beltran with the personal direction of the bandits.

Forty of Rodrigues's men were reported captured and held at Madera as prisoners, where it was said they were shot as bandits.

The Americans heard that Rodrigues and his men were burning bridges below Madera, and called for help from Chihuahua and asked that troops be rushed there.

Without waiting for the troops, Marquez attacked the bridge burners with 125 men drawn from Americans and the garrison at Madera.

Bodies of Victims Arrive.

The bodies of eighteen Americans killed Monday by Mexican bandits near Santa Ysabel, western Chihuahua, reached El Paso early today and were taken in charge by undertakers preparatory to sending them to relatives in various parts of the country.

The body of Joseph Enders, reported killed, was not among those arriving today.

F. E. Stephenson, secretary of the Mining and Smelter Men's association, of Chihuahua, who organized the party that recovered the bodies, said that the heads were almost blown off.

"They were stripped of clothing before being dragged out of the cars and killed," said Stephenson. "When we arrived at the scene of the massacre a Carranza guard remained at Santa Ysabel, where we found a number of the bandits encamped. We returned to the troop train to get a machine gun, and then proceeded to the place where the bodies were heaped."

An expedition which left Chihuahua City to recover the bodies of the nineteen slain Americans were informed by the station agent at Santa Ysabel that Benjamin Snell and Frank Woods passed there bound west half an hour after the Watson train was reported in trouble. The station agent said he warned the two men to return, but they said they were armed and feared no trouble. Nothing later was heard of the party, and it is believed that they met the fate of the Watson train.

MAN IS BADLY HURT WHEN HIT BY TRAIN

A man supposed to be W. E. Seagill was struck by a W. & A. train late last night at the crossing on North avenue. The man, who is in a critical condition, was unconscious early today and there was no way of identifying him except by some papers he had, and from these no address could be obtained.

AT THE THEATERS

William Faversham.

(At the Atlanta.)

On Tuesday and Wednesday, January 18-19 at the Atlanta theater, Mr. William Faversham will appear in his great success "The Hawk." In this play Mr. Faversham again returns to his early fashion of part, a modern man of the world, and to those playgoers who have only seen him in recent years there will be presented a characterization notable for its perfection of ease, deportment and the treatment of its more delicate phases, such as is seldom seen on our stage. There is no play today who can play such a role with greater artistry. The story is a thrilling romance of modern life and its setting gives the theme a particular interest. "The Hawk" tells a story which reaches to the heart of social beings throughout the world. Since assuming his own management Mr. Faversham's productions have been notable for the perfection of the ensemble performances given by his companies and it is said that this present company maintains the same high standards. Seats on sale today at 9 a. m.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Dances by Emelie Lea, one of the stars who helped make Ziegfeld's Follies so famous, are a delightful and entertaining feature of the big Fashion Show with which Manager George H. Hickman tops the Keith vaudeville bill at the Forsyth this week. More dances are offered by Helen Rigby as "the spirit of Autumn," and there also are tuneful songs. The chief part of the Fashion Show, of course, is the dazzling and colorful display of the newest and most gorgeous creations of women's style, as produced by the leading designers.

In addition to the Fashion Show, other entertaining acts of the week include Dorothy DeShelle and company, in a comedy playlet of crook life; Al and Fanny Steadman, one of vaudeville's funniest pairs; Alfred Bergen, a baritone, with a voice rivaling Amato's, and others.

"Excuse Me."

(At the Strand.)

The Strand theater will offer today the Gold Rooster play, "Excuse Me," from the adaptation of Rupert Hughes' novel. George Marion, the director, is also one of the exceedingly funny characters in the play, playing the part of the inimitable Pullman porter. Vivian Blackburn and Robert Fisher are two of the other stars, together with several others who were in the original production. It is a five-reel comedy, chock full of fun, from beginning to end, four of the reels being confined to the experiences of passengers on a Pullman car. Much humor is derived from the democratic mingling of all sorts and conditions of men and women in the sleeping car, placing them in curious and ridiculous, though not impossible, predicaments. Seventy-five per cent of the laughs are caused by the clever acting and situations, and the other 25 per cent comes from the clever sub-title.

"Fighting for France."

(At the Lyric.)

"Fighting for France," the stupendous war motion picture produced under the direction of the French government and showing the entente and German armies so near together that they fight with hand grenades, is the big offering at the Lyric this week. The picture shows actual fighting on all the big battle fronts, with intimate views of such notables as the king of England, the czar of Russia, Kitchener, Joffre and others. This is undoubtedly the greatest and most realistic war picture ever filmed, and shows scenes of such daring as to be almost unbelievable were their authenticity not vouched for by the republic of France.

"The Golden Chance."

(At the Grand.)

The splendid acting of Wallace Reid, of "Birth of a Nation" fame, is one of the big features of "The Golden Chance," the gripping society drama and love story which is the offering at the Grand today. Associated with Mr. Reid in this big Lasky production is Cleo Ridgely, whose bewitching personality is enough to make every film she takes part in a big feature. "The Golden Chance" is an intensely interesting play of modern life in its various shades and is up to the top notch of the well-known Lasky standard.

Blanche Ring.

(At the Georgian.)

Vivacious Blanche Ring, idol of a nation of musical comedy lovers, and star of many of Broadway's most historical successes, is to be seen by Georgian patrons today and tonight only in her first film appearance, "The Yankee Girl." It is the picture version of her greatest stage achievement, a show that had a flatteringly prolonged run on Broadway, and which also enjoyed many seasons of prosperous life on the road. The famous star of stage and song is exceptionally well equipped as a player for the moving picture camera, and in the films none of her compelling personality is lost—rather it is enhanced by the scope the camera lends to her efforts. For Saturday the Georgian will offer Hazel Dawn, favorite of both stage and films, in her most noteworthy picture success, "The Masqueraders."

LINER VERDI TO LEAVE WITH 2 GUNS MOUNTED

Washington, January 13.—The Italian liner Giuseppe Verdi will be permitted to clear from New York with her two guns still mounted. The state department had given its assent on assurances that the pieces are to be used only for defense.

To Prevent The Grip.

When you feel a cold coming on, a few doses of LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE will stop it and keep the system in condition to prevent a spell of GRIP. There is only one "BROMO QUININE." E. W. GROVE'S signature on box. 25c.

Associated Charities Appeal for a Family Now in Sorest Need

Many of the best families of Atlanta are just about to go into the boarding house business, although they will not know it until they have read this story.

Whenever the Associated Charities are in particular need of various articles for an especially needy case they always appeal to the good folks of Atlanta to help them out, and the Charities have never failed to get response yet to such a demand. Therefore, it is safe to say that some of the best families in Atlanta are about to go into the boarding house business, for the Associated Charities are asking for furniture, kitchen utensils and linen enough to furnish a small boarding house for a woman who is in severe need of such help. The Charities have already succeeded not only in getting a house for her, but in getting boarders.

David Golden, a carpenter, formerly of 215 Plum street, now of—well, it depends—lies helpless in a hospital with his wife and three children in destitute circumstances. He has been able to do no work since October, 1914, when he was struck by an automobile and had his leg broken. Since then practically everything that he had has been taken from him and his home is threatened with disintegration.

The Associated Charities have furnished the family with all that they have had for the last several months.

Mrs. Golden is said to be a woman of ability and wants to take boarders, but it will be necessary for her to get some household goods before she can make any progress. The Associated Charities have offered to get her a house, for there are two people who say that they will pay her $5 a week for board. She has an excellent opportunity to assist herself, but she hasn't a single thing to go in a house. The Associated Charities asks that those willing to give articles will please notify the Associated Charities or send the articles direct to 44 Oliver street. The things that are essential to her taking boarders are beds, chairs, china, a stove, tables and linen ware.

URGES INDEPENDENCE FOR THE FILIPINOS

Washington, January 13.—Senator McCumber, republican, today advocated giving the people of the Philippine islands independence, asserting that the United States not only was morally bound to such action, but that possession of the islands was a constant menace from a military point of view. He introduced an amendment to the pending bill for extending to the Filipinos a greater degree of self-government, which would authorize the president to seek an international agreement to guarantee the autonomy of the islands, aid the Filipinos in establishing a stable government and then to proclaim independence.

Senator Thompson, of Kansas, spoke in favor of the bill. A vote on it is expected Saturday.

To Have Perfect Skin Throughout the Winter

These days the face and hands need special care and attention. Strong winds, quick changes of temperature from indoors to outdoors are severe on the skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercolised wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion beautifully white and spotless. Chapped, reddened, blotchy and roughened cuticle are actually absorbed by it. One ounce of mercolised wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a weather-beaten complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.

As the skin tends to expand in a warm atmosphere, cheeks and chin to sag and wrinkles to form, a good astringent lotion should be used by the woman who keeps pretty much indoors these days. Dissolve one ounce powdered saxolite in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathe the face in this mornings or before going out for theater or social affair. It is a remarkable skin tightener and wrinkle eraser.

TIME TO STOP IT.

If the national department of justice, or any other department which has anything to do with it, proposes to render assistance of any sort to the American public, now suffering unquestionable extortion in the matter of the price of gasoline, it is time to get busy with it.

Not only has there been gross discrimination in the price as between different sections of the country, but the cost to the consumer has rapidly advanced and is showing no indication of abatement. Interviewed by a newspaper reporter the other day, H. F. Sinclair, a New York millionaire oil man, seems to have let the cat out of the bag. We quote from the interview:

"Has the cost of production increased?" Sinclair was asked.

"Not appreciably," was the answer.

"Why, then, should the price be advanced?"

Sinclair laughed and said: "Oh, well, if you've got something to sell that everybody wants you get the highest price you can for it, don't you? That's the way in the oil business."

The truth is nobody ever had any idea that there had been any increase whatever in the cost of production. On the other hand, everybody was absolutely convinced that it was a case of making the public pay because of the extraordinary demand.

But the most unwelcome feature of the statement attributed to Mr. Sinclair is that, "it would not be surprising if first grade gasoline was quoted at 40 cents per gallon within a short time."

When such statements as these from reputed authority are appearing in the public prints, it would seem that the department of justice would have no trouble whatever in finding plenty of evidence upon which to base its case. It is sufficiently evident from this that there is no such thing as competition, and that the price is carefully regulated and well controlled.

The particular feature of the traffic in which Atlanta and the cities and towns throughout the south are most interested was the too apparent discrimination against them in the matter of price. Gasoline was sold right along here at 7 to 8 cents per gallon more than the consumer was asked in Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and other cities of the west. It was this unfair discrimination against which The Constitution made the strongest protest.

That discrimination was one of the most pointed evidences of monopolistic control, but it seems that other and equally formidable evidence is gradually coming to life.

If the federal government proposes to do anything whatever in behalf of the people in preventing extortion in connection with this necessity, it is high time they were getting busy about it.

HELP THE ARTILLERY.

The continued existence and growth of the Atlanta artillery, already a splendidly equipped and capable light battery, or the withdrawal of its equipment and its disbanding, now depend upon whether or not the city of Atlanta is willing to appropriate the insignificant sum of $60 a month, to pay for the services of a caretaker to look after this property and such additional equipment as the government may furnish it.

The Atlanta artillery has gone before the finance committee of council with a petition asking for this small appropriation, in order to meet the only government requirement. This requirement is that either the battery itself, or the community in which it is located, shall furnish a responsible caretaker for the valuable property supplied for the use of the battery. This requirement is imperative, and if it is not met the equipment will be withdrawn and there will be nothing for the battery to do but disband. The total amount involved is $720 a year.

The United States government has already furnished the Atlanta artillery through the war department four modern 3-inch guns with caissons, 44 sets of double harness, together with uniforms, revolvers and other equipment for 138 men, the total value of which is $100,000.

In addition to the foregoing, the federal government now proposes to supply the battery with thirty horses and to furnish food and grooms for same, all of which will mean an additional and substantial expenditure of money by the government in this city.

This will absolutely complete the battery's equipment and leave it only to the officers and men composing it to make it one of the most efficient and serviceable of all the commands in the national guard. The battery has ever been ready for prompt response to service, and its very presence here means insurance to the public of the safety of life and property.

Atlanta is asked to contribute less than three-quarters of one per cent of the government investment in this battery. It furnishes all equipment and material, as well as food for the horses and pay for the men who are to look after them.

In asking of the city, so small a thing as the furnishing of the caretaker for the valuable equipment it has placed in the keeping of the battery, it looks as if the federal government is seeking only the smallest possible co-operation and interest on the part of the community which profits by the presence of the battery and the efficiency of its organization.

Assuredly Atlanta cannot afford to, and will not, ignore so simple a request from the battery itself, the granting of which means the life and growth of the organization itself.

THE CENTENARY OF THRIFT.

Thrift is as old as the first man who sought to multiply his flocks or husband the resources of his vineyard. But we are to celebrate this year its centennial in the United States, figured upon the basis of the first materialization of it in the shape of a savings bank.

The first American savings banks, the Philadelphia Savings-Fund Institution and the Provident Institution for Savings of Boston, began business in 1816. It is from the establishment of these institutions, out of which the savings bank enterprise has grown into already large proportions, that there comes the centennial to be celebrated this year by a nation-wide campaign for the encouragement of thrift.

Speaking of the proposed celebration, The New York World says:

> On the barest face of things, it would seem that the habit of thriftfulness is doing very well without special efforts in promotion, for whereas the savings bank deposits of the nation amounted to a little more than $2,600,000,000 for the year ending June 30, 1901, the total at the end of June, 1915, was very close to $5,000,000,000. As a matter of deeper fact, however, our savings bank depositors are but 11 per cent of the population, while the savers in France, a nation whose thrift has been well demonatrated in the emergencies of costly wars, are 34.6 per cent.

In connection with the foregoing statement, what we have to consider here in Georgia and the south is not so much the fact the United States are far behind France in the matter of savings as that the south itself is lamentably behind the rest of the country.

It is a noteworthy fact that out of 11,285,750 savings depositors in the United States, there are more than 8,000,000 of them in the eastern states from Maine down to Maryland!

Eleven states have more than three-fourths of these depositors, while thirty-seven states, north, south and west, have less than one-fourth of them.

The savings deposits of the twelve distinctly southern states fall below $90,000,000!

In other words, the savings deposits of the twelve southern states are less than one-fiftieth of those of the remaining thirty-six states!

Thrift may have made remarkable progress in New England and the states of the upper Atlantic coast, but here in the south it needs efficient promotion.

We ought to have an active and a determined campaign on the savings subject here in the south, even if the rest of the country overlooks the opportunity for it.

ROUGH ON KINGS.

It is a bad day for kings. Peter of Serbia is in exile, mourning the loss of his kingdom; the Austrian monarch is old, feeble and on the anxious bench; the kaiser is on the afflicted list; the King of England, on account of a recent accident, is "held fast to his bed by straps;" the Greek king is held fast by "apron strings," and, all told, there are so many Sick Men of Europe it's hard to pick and choose between them!

And the People—they have so many king-made troubles that they haven't the heart to sing, "God Save the Kings!"

For it is a flame-fierce ordeal for them now, and the cry of war-racked, homeless millions has been changed to "God Save the People!"

Professor Lowell will not agree that the Martian canals are merely trenches where they do the fighting.

Carranza is working hard for a Nobel peace prize wherewith to replenish the national treasury.

Some of the English generals make a better showing on the films than they do at the front.

The cubist artists are at work on war scenes, but they can't possibly make them worse.

Why tag the Ford peace advocates, when they are known by the way they cut up?

First cold flag signal this summer!

Still on Hallelujah Ground.

"I hear some talk about country churches bein' deserted for high preachin' in town," writes a correspondent of The Adams Enterprise, "but it ain't the case in this here settlement. The old-time religion is still free as air round here, and the old-style preachers hit the pulpit as hard as ever they did! And when we raise the old songs of Zion we mighty nigh raise the roof! Please God, you can hear the shingles shake as the music goes ringing to the sky! No, no,—the country church is still on the high road to grace and glory, down our way."

Unrest.

Here is poetry with the red blood of life in it, from "Dreams and Dust," by Don Marquis, published by Harper & Bros. It is the conclusion of a song of "Unrest:"

"When man's dim eyes demanded light
The light he sought was born—
His wish, a Titan, scaled the height
And flung him back the morn!

"From deed to dream, from dream to deed,
From daring hope to hope,
The restless wish, the instant need,
Still lashed him up the slope!

"I sing no governed firmament,
Cold, ordered, regular—
I sing the stinging discontent
That leaps from star to star!"

TRAINS.

BY GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Trains are used to transport freight and passengers, mentioned in the order of their importance, from hither to yon. At this particular minute let us consider passenger trains.

A passenger train consists of an engine, a baggage car, a conductor, a peanut salesman, a brakeman with throat trouble and several passenger coaches. It is operated on what is known as a schedule, which is America's most popular work of fiction. The schedule shows the time at which the prospective passenger should arrive at the station in order to get a good seat near the stove in the waiting room.

Passenger trains are divided into three classes—limited, local and accommodation trains. Limited trains are very fast, and only stop for crossings, semaphores, side tracks, cows on the track, hot boxes, orders and coal. They are very luxurious, and are supposed to get you to your destination on time, for which you pay from $5 to $10 extra. This explains the "limited" part. You have to ante before you get on, and there is a $10 limit.

Local trains stop at all stations and elsewhere, and are very careless, losing ten minutes here and thirty minutes there with the utmost unconcern, like a messenger boy. They are patronised by the plain people, and are afflicted with prehistoric coaches and newsboys who prey on the passengers and sell them peanuts, figs and Elinor Glynn's latest works in a hoarse whisper at the end of the car. Local trains run from "Aaughwow to Sstreech," according to the brakeman, and the next station is "Arglouuuuu." If a man is stubborn about it he can reach almost any town in the country on a local train. A man once traveled from New York to San Francisco on a local train, but it took so much time that he had to walk back.

Accommodation trains are composed of freight cars and a caboose, in which passengers ride on the floor and the ceiling alternately. Accommodation trains are so named because they frequently wait on a side track while a farmer's hogs get fat enough for him to ship with profit. Waiting for an accommodation train and waiting for a new comet are two operations requiring more misguided patience than anything else on record.

Passenger trains transport their patrons to terrestrial points for from two to three cents a mile, and to the Great Beyond occasionally without extra charge. In the middle west the rate is 2 cents a mile, but in the sparsely settled east the poverty-stricken lines manage to get 3 cents a mile in most instances.

"FOR WORLD PEACE."

Editor Constitution: At one time of my life I had occasion to travel lonely country roads at night. I habitually carried a revolver. There being no police protection, I went armed, prepared to protect myself.

And so, it seems to me, until we have some system of international police, nations will insist on going armed, prepared to protect themselves.

I am able to discard my revolver because society has instituted a system of police and courts which shield me from aggression and protect my rights far better than my revolver could possibly do.

If we had a federation of the world, with international courts and international police strong enough to enforce international laws, nations could disarm.

Such a federation of the world and a parliament of man is not merely a dream of the poet. Let me again call attention to the fact that a great number of thoughtful men and women are actively working out this idea. It is the one great constructive proposal that gives promise to free the world of the curse of war and the burden of armaments.

The reason the commonwealth of Massachusetts does not go armed to protect itself against the state of New York is partly, at least, because interstate disputes are referred to the United States supreme court. Just so nations ought to have a supreme court of the world to settle international disputes.

Several societies have been organized to work out the details and hasten the advent of such a federation of the world. The Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes has done excellent work for several years. The League to Enforce Peace is specially active just now.

The world today is full of people eager to help in making this the last great war. They should encourage the movement by joining one of the peace societies and help spread the propaganda. Whether we are pro-German or pro-ally, whether we are for preparedness or against, we can all join hands in this movement for a world federation which shall substitute law and equity among the nations in place of blood and iron.

Yours for permanent world peace,
PERLEY DOE.

Arlington, Mass.

SETTLEMENT ORGANIZATION COLONY IS THRIVING IN DOUGHERTY COUNTY

Robert M. Pindell, Jr., one of the vice presidents of the Southern Settlement and Development organization, is in Atlanta on matters of business pertaining to the completion of the organization of the Georgia branch of the parent organization. Mr. Pindell reports that the delay in the organization which resulted from the very severe illness of Chairman J. Ward Motte, of Savannah, is now ended, Mr. Motte being much improved in health, and it is hoped that the selection of an active manager of the branch will be announced shortly.

Mr. Pindell gives an interesting account of the colony recently brought to Dougherty county from Illinois by the Southern Settlement and Development organization. He states that he has visited this colony within the past few days and finds that they are making remarkable progress in their new home, that they appear to be well satisfied with their surroundings, and that there is every prospect that the venture will be successful. Owing to delays which could not be avoided, the colonists did not arrive until about the first of December; notwithstanding this they have done a great deal of plowing and grubbing and most of them have oats that are up and doing satisfactorily.

Nineteen Families.

There are nineteen families in the first arrival, and they are all comparatively young men. In appearance they are energetic and intelligent. The county demonstrator for Dougherty county makes regular visits to the colony each week and an agricultural agent of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, near whose line the colony is located, also makes regular visits. Realizing the importance of constant supervision over these newcomers in respect to methods of cultivation of their land until they become thoroughly acquainted with the soil and climate, efforts are now be a made by the organization in co-operation with the Albany Chamber of Commerce to provide the colony with an agricultural adviser who will remain with them constantly for the next three or four months. Mr. Pindell stated that other colonies were in course of organization for location in the state of Georgia, when a location suitable to their requirements and needs is found.

Cattle Raising Conference.

Mr. Pindell also called attention to the conference on cattle raising which the Southern Settlement and Development organization, in co-operation with the Tampa Board of Trade and the Florida Cattle Men's association, will hold at Tampa, Fla., on February 7-8, 1916. He states that through the efforts of the organization the large meat packing interests of Chicago, the larger cattle buyers and live stock organizations from all over the country will send delegates to this conference. The federal department of agriculture will also be represented by direction of the secretary of agriculture and periodicals and journals devoted to the live stock industry have shown a very keen interest in the meeting, a number of them having agreed to have representatives present.

The meeting will take the form of a conference rather than a convention. Instead of set speeches the conference is divided into sections for open discussion of the many practical questions which confront the cattle raiser in the south. Reduced railroad rates are in effect for this occasion and a large attendance is expected.

SAYS NARCOTIC HOSPITAL SHOULD BE IN COUNTRY

Collector Blalock Opposes Plan to Locate Institution Near Capitol.

A. O. Blalock, collector of internal revenue, and director of the government agents in this territory who have had much experience with drug addicts, yesterday afternoon gave out an interview in which he opposes the proposed establishment of the state hospital for narcotic patients near the capitol building.

He suggests a location removed from the city, where natural advantages will be greater, and where the inmate will not be liable to come in contact with "dope" peddlers and unscrupulous physicians.

"I do not want to be put in the attitude of criticising those persons who wish to establish the hospital near the capitol, where, I understand, a site has been decided upon, and I do not question anyone's motives," said Mr. Blalock, "but I would like to suggest that they choose a more advantageous location—one in the open."

"One has no idea the difficulty encountered in attempting to cure drug addicts in the city, or in any crowded community. It is very nearly impossible. To house a number of patients in close quarters is, itself, a great handicap in the treatment of habitues. But to shelter them in a place where there is the constant possibility that they will come in contact with injurious influences, such as drug peddlers and criminal physicians, is to take useless chances.

"Drug patients need the open, where they can get plenty of sunshine and fresh air. They need spacious grounds, where they can walk and get exercise. The dope patient is extremely nervous. He demands exercise, diverting scenery, fresh air and soothing environments. Otherwise, he would be driven to temporary aberration and break from restraint to obtain the drug his system cries for.

"I hope that the state authorities will see fit to establish the sanatorium in the country, where it will be accessible by trolley car and within only a few minutes' ride of the city. This, according to my observation of years, is the only logical spot in which to locate it."

BANK OF TIFTON WILL ERECT HANDSOME HOME

Surplus Ten-Fold as Great as Capital—Resources Near Two Million.

Tifton, Ga., January 13.—(Special.)—At the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Bank of Tifton yesterday $30,000 was voted to be expended on a handsome one and a half story banking house for the institution. The site has not been selected, but several desirable locations on Main street are under consideration. The new building will be used for a banking house exclusively.

The stockholders' meeting was held previous to this meeting and the old board of directors re-elected, viz.: P. D. Phillips, W. W. Banks, H. H. Tift, L. S. Shepherd and E. P. Bowen.

The directors re-elected the following officers: H. H. Tift, president; E. P. Bowen and W. W. Banks, vice presidents; E. H. McLeod, cashier, and J. W. O'Neal, assistant cashier.

The usual dividend was declared and a neat sum passed over to the surplus fund, which already exceeded $250,000, the capital being only $25,000. During the past year the bank's resources passed the million-dollar mark and is now well on towards the two-million-dollar mark.

BLIZZARD ENGAGEMENT FOR ATLANTA CANCELED

Miss Blizzard has cancelled her widely heralded engagement in Atlanta. She has manifested temperament, and is now performing in some more desirable spot.

Announcement to this effect was made last night by Director von Herrmann, in his office in the weather bureau.

Mr. von Herrmann has obtained the services of Blizzard's understudy, Miss Cold Wave, a mild, but less experienced maid, who is now performing to the best of her ability. She is doing her best to take the place of the celebrated Blizzard.

The mercury dropped around the freezing point last night, but it is expected to go up today. The weather will be fair with westerly winds.

Rides Train First Time.

Athens, Ga., January 13.—(Special.) A good lady living near Nicholson, on a farm on which she was born sixty-five years ago, was in Athens today for the first time in several years, coming from Nicholson on the Southern train—the first time she had ever "ridden the steam cars," though five railroads have been built in ten miles of her home in her lifetime. She liked the experience so well that she is planning to visit a daughter in Atlanta in a few weeks.

CITY HALL GOSSIP

"TO THE VICTORS."

Being a poem read by the city hall poet laureate at a dinner given to Mayor Pro Tem. Jesse Warren Armistead:

In politics, as well as war,
When nothing daunts or foils,
To whose who win the victory
Always belong the spoils.

Some councilmen who cast their votes
For a new mayor pro tem.,
Won victory in a mighty fight
By pull and stratagem.

So seventeen good councilmen,
Who love to be well fed,
Were feasted at the banquet board
With Jesse Armistead.

CITY HALL DOPE.

When a local politician gets to "fixing his fences" he generally has to fool with the boards.

A citizen who went before the water board about an excessive charge, said he didn't like that kind of a board bill.

Here's another from the city clerk: "The dairyman, who was arrested the other day by the milk inspector for selling poor milk, was like the whale that swallowed Jonah because he found a prophet (profit) in the water."

One reason why the labor of the finance committee has been likened to a crazy-quilt may be because it has a hard time making ends meet.

COUNCIL FINANCE COMMITTEE FINDS A MUNICIPAL WONDER

The financial committee of council, while working on the January apportionment sheet yesterday, called Joe Cochran, the park manager, a "perfect wonder."

This outburst of praise was due to the park manager having actually requested that a cut be made in one of the appropriations his department had asked for. Mr. Cochran wanted certain work done and when he found that he could do it for less money than placed in the sheet he asked that a cut of $4,725 be made.

The cut was cheerfully made and the manager singled out as a municipal curiosity.

RAISE GIVEN TEAM DRIVERS WHO WORKED FOR $1.65 A DAY

Although it was the policy of the finance committee of council not to make any salary raises this year, it did take care of the hard-worked and poorly paid team drivers in the construction department. The men were getting only $1.65 a day and they were raised to $1.75.

The credit for taking care of these men, nearly all of whom have families to support, is due to the fight made for them by Councilman Williamson, of the third ward, and Councilman Johnson, of the fifth ward, and Alderman McDonald, of the third ward.

IT IS NOT A "BRIDGE OF SIGHS," BUT MAY BE IF YOU GO ON IT

There is a very famous historical warning that reads:

"Ye who enter here leave all hope behind."

Some such notice will be posted on the Bell street bridge under instructions from the finance committee of council. The bridge has become dangerous to travel. Last year one span had to be propped up to keep it from falling down. It will cost about $28,000 to put the bridge in good repair, but the finance committee could not provide the money and decided to have the bridge posted:

"This bridge is dangerous for heavy traffic."

THIS ALDERMAN WILL RESIGN TO BETTER THE CITY GOVERNMENT

There is one patriotic member of the general council. He is Alderman Edgar Dunlap, of the ninth ward.

"I am willing to resign from the aldermanic board right now," stated Alderman Dundap yesterday when some one asked him if he was in favor of a commission government, "if by doing so I could get a better municipal system for Atlanta. Since I have been in council I have seen enough to know that some sort of a change ought to be made, and the sooner the better."

HARDMAN IN RACE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

state of Georgia, and in compliance with the statement that I would make my decision known to the people of Georgia in January and with my own desire to serve the whole constituency of the state, I announce myself a candidate for the high office of governor of the state of Georgia, subject to the rules and regulations which may be provided by the people as expressed through the democratic executive committee of this state.

"It is my purpose and desire to serve the whole people of the whole state of Georgia, from every section, from every faction, standing for every principle that is wholesome and uplifting for the masses of our great state.

Platform Same as 1914.

"My platform will be practically the same as outlined in 1914, with such additions or explanations of that declarationas occurs to me as wise. I announced myself then as a democratic candidate and subject to rules and regulations which were provided at that time by that party, and I believe yet that true democracy has within its principles every necessary element for building a great state and a great people. I favored law enforcement then; I favor it now. I believed then, as I believe now, that the disregard for law threatened our whole fabric. No fabric is stronger than its weakest part. No state, in its governmental powers, is stronger than the respect and enforcement of the laws. As the fabric goes to pieces when the demand for strength is required, so the state will crumble and decay and disease and discord will spring up where there is disloyalty to the majesty of law. We should enforce all laws or repeal and not wilfully violate. The violation is a crushing and a disruption and a tearing asunder both the foundation of our government and the individual respect for law. I believe in the true democratic principles, which conserves and protects the interest of the entire people and their diversitics of developments which is righteous and just. I do not believe in the unnecessary and cumbersome enactment of law that takes from the individual his liberty and centralizes in the state. I believe in the protection of the individual as far as it can be done with safety to the whole people.

For Prohibition Enforcement.

"I favored then, as I do now, the entire interests of the whole state that is wholesome for the development of the individual and state. Not standing alone for one principle and interest, but the diversity of interests, which is helpful and wholesome. I stood for prohibition under democratic administration. I stand for it now. I stood for the enforcement of the prohibition law then; I stand for it now, but I stand for more than that. I stand for the enforcement of every law as long as they are on our statute-books. Believing that the violation and disregard for any law encourages the violation of all laws of the state, I want to commend most heartily the press of our state who have contributed some very strong and wholesome editorials in favor of law enforcement, as well as some other papers of our state who have expressed themselves in favor of the prohibition principles.

"I stood for a business administration of the affairs of the state; for the promotion of every endeavor for the benefit of the masses of the people of our state, believing that the chief executive of a state should be the governor for all the people, and not one class or one section or one faction; that every endeavor of a righteous nature should have the fair and just administration that they require.

"I believe that the chief executive of a great people and a state of great resources should be broad enough and devoted enough to the people and to the vast resources of the state to see so far as in his power lies; that each and every interest should be developed to the highest possible capacity. I believed then, as I do now, that the educational interests of our state should be fostered and commended for the interest of the masses and for the elimination of illiteracy which is a burden and a disgrace to our people.

"I commend many of the methods that are now in operation to eliminate this evil.

For Educational Development.

"I believe that we need further consideration of this matter that will give to us better attendance of our people to our educational institutions. I believe in the better development of the mind and body of our people for their own benefit and for the benefit of the whole state.

"I favored a revision of the health laws of our state, thereby promoting a conservation of human life and the prevention of human suffering. I favor that today. And I call attention to other measures in my platform that stand for the prevention of the waste of human life; to relieve the burden of human suffering. I favored a proper expenditure and the prompt disbursement of the funds of the state to maintain its credit, and reputation.

"I put stress upon agricultural education, and the conservation of the material resources of our state; favoring the developments of our roads as one of the most important elements for the development of the rural as well as the central sections of our state. I favored a study of our soils; it representing the blood and source from which every endeavor and material development must come. I favored drainage method that would reclaim our land, and promote the health of our country for the upbuild of our state, and I favor these measures today.

"I favor the fair and just treatment of labor, corporations, railroads and all lines which are developers of our great state with a regulation that will be fair and just to the interests of each, and to the whole state.

Conservation of Resources.

"I favor the conservation as far as it is practical to do so, of our timber interests, our mineral interests and our land interests for the people of our state, so as not to interfere with the progress and development of the state. And I favor laws that will provide for the protection of our women and children. The source of supply of our future population; our future strength in men and principles, which with the proper regulations and regard for each other and our laws is bound to contribute a greater success to a greater state.

"I commend the businesslike methods of auditing our state departments as recognized by the last legislature. I believe that we have in the state road commission that was appointed by the last legislature, wise and business men who are capable of handling and offering a reasonable disposition of our state road.

"I submit these thoughts for your consideration with the very highest regard for those who opposed me in my former race for governor, and for those who may see fit to differ from me at this time. I have the highest regard for the valiant soldier who wore the gray, and who are now, to some expense to the state, for their service and for the principles that they represented, and that they should be properly cared for and honored.

"I do not believe that I am doing any violence to the honored custom which provided for the second term of the chief executive of our state, as this has been frequently violated several times of recent years, both from the standpoint of the people and the retiring chief executive, and in further consideration of the fact that the chief basis of the campaign was launched and fought out on the grounds of one term. It's my purpose in a more formal notice later to the people of Georgia to give some figures in regard to the conservation of human life as well as to the conservation of our material resources and construction and building of a greater state.

"Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) "L. G. HARDMAN.

INTEREST DEVELOPING IN THE W. & A. EXTENSION

Since the advertisement recently published by the Western and Atlantic railroad re-leasing commission, stating that the commission is now ready to receive maps, surveys, construction propositions and other information concerning any proposed extension of the Western and Atlantic railroad, a great deal of interest has developed about the state in the matter. Especially is this true of eastern and southeastern Georgia, the section of the state which would necessarily be most vitally affected by any extension of the state's road from Atlanta to the sea.

There have been a number of callers at the statehouse to confer with the governor and Chairman Murphy Candler about the suggestion that the road be extended.

Already cities lying between Atlanta and the sea have an eye open for location upon the line of any proposed extension.

The Waycross Journal-Herald says: "For years the extension of the state road to the sea via Waycross has been agitated. The state owns much valuable property at St. Marys, and it has been urged that St. Marys be made the seaport for the state road. The commission when named was by act of the legislature empowered to gather information relative to the feasibility of extending the state road to the sea."

Whether or not the state road is ever extended to the sea, the present indications are that the commission will have considerable to report to the regular session of the general assembly next summer.

PEOPLE WILL HAVE POLITICS BROUGHT TO 'EM THIS YEAR

The rapidity with which the political temperature has risen in the last several days gives every indication that the voters of the state will not this year have to do any long-distance deciding about what candidates they will vote for. And, too, there are prospects of quite an assortment from which to select, which with everybody from county coroner to United States president to be elected.

Governor Harris makes the statement that in his campaign for re-election he intends to "stump" the state most thoroughly, and meet the voters face to face.

The announcement of Dr. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, to take another try in the gubernatorial race this year, in view of the intimate character of his last campaign, leads to the belief that he also will be a visitor to practically every county in the state.

And there is, too, the probability of others being in the race for the governorship.

There will be also some speeches from candidates for state treasurer and commissioner of agriculture, as well as some other state house offices, who will travel largely, as the heat of the campaign demands.

These prospects, together with the county and congressional races, should keep the voters of the state pretty well supplied with first-hand "dope" this year.

SAVANNAH BANKING COMPANY WOULD INCREASE CAPITAL

The Oglethorpe Savings and Trust company, of Savannah, Tuursday, filed application with Secretary of State Phil Cook, asking an amendment to its charter for the purpose of doubling its capital stock.

The present capital of the company is $125,000. It desires to increase this sum to $250,000.

MANY VISITORS DROP IN UPON STATE HOUSE OFFICIALS

Business, political and otherwise, is bringing many visitors to the state capitol every day now.

Among Thursday's visitors were Colonel S. V. Sanford, of Athens, member of the faculty of the University of Georgia; Major Boswell, also of Athens, commandant of cadets at the university; Captain L. Johnson, of St. Mary's Ga.; Judge J. E. Reagan, of McDonough, chairman of the state democratic executive committee; Colonel F. H. Dean, of Gainesville, and W. H. H. Futrelle, of Atlanta, father of the late Jacques Futrelle, well known author who lost his life in the wreck of the Titanic. Mrs. Futrelle desired to thank the governor for his interest in the welfare of Will Futrelle, his son, who is now ill in Colquitt.

COFFEE CO. YOUTH ARE TO FARM FOR LIBRARY BENEFIT

Douglas, Ga., January 13.—(Special.) Superintendent J. Gordon Floyd, the county board of education co-operating with him, has organized among the rural schools a Coffee county cotton club, with the design to equip the schools with libraries. The area planted will be limited, half the yield will be given the school, and half kept by the producer.

A schedule of prizes has been arranged for the best individual yield, boy or girl; best school yield, and best yield by any club of twenty.

The board of education will give a $10 bookcase to any school raising $25 for a library, and a gold medal to the teacher whose club of twenty wins the first prize.

SAYS SAXE'S ELECTION PLEASED MANY MASONS

Councilman J. N. Renfroe requests the publication of the following statement regarding the election of George Saxe, a clerk in the city tax office, to succeed William M. Bearden.

"I notice a report of the action of the tax committee in the election of George Saxe, in which Mr. Walter Andrews, potentate of Yaarab temple, is quoted as saying that he represented 2,100 members of the temple in asking Mr. Bearden's re-election; and also, after Mr. Saxe's election, Mr. Andrews is quoted as threatening, for the Shrine, to carry the matter before the city council at its next meeting.

"I nominated and supported Mr. Saxe because of my confidence in his ability to fulfill the duties of the office in an acceptable manner, and I am satisfied with the result.

"Since the election a great many Masons and Shriners, who are friends of Mr. Saxe, have expressed their gratification at his election. So I am quite sure that Mr. Andrews was mistaken when he said that he represented the Shriners.

"Mr. Andrews has the right as a private citizen to urge the support of his friends, but he should not claim to represent the Masons of the Shrine, which is based on all the fundamental principles of Masonry.

"I, myself, am a Mason and have been a Shriner for about ten years, and I regret that Mr. Andrews seems to be so unfamiliar with the principles and objects of Masonry as to run the risk of bringing the great order into disrepute by causing it to be involved in petty politics."

Salad Combinations Drew Another Full House to Constitution's Free Cooking School at Taft Hall

Number of Ladies Came as Early as 11 O'Clock and Brought Their Fancy Work

Cake Specially Designed and Dedicated to Georgia Housewives Will Be Baked This Afternoon — Desserts on the Menu Today.

The announcement on Thursday morning that Mrs. Betty Wilson would feature salad combinations for the afternoon made yesterday's demonstrations decidedly one of the most interesting so far held by the famous kitchen artist.

As early as 11 o'clock Atlanta housewives began gathering, and by noon a large number of the front seats were occupied, the ladies bringing along their fancy work and plying the needle until time for Mrs. Wilson to make her appearance—three hours later.

Again a large number of ladies, who arrived about time for the lectures to open, were compelled to stand, but with notebook in hand, jotting down every recipe announced by Mrs. Wilson, they remained until the close of the session.

Mrs. Wilson devoted some time during the afternoon to a general talk along housekeeping lines, and offered many little helpful suggestions to the ladies concerning dainty little dishes and plans for entertaining friends. While she devoted the main part of the afternoon to informing the housewives on the salad menu announced and to bread and rolls, she gave to her hearers, from time to time, several simple little recipes for making delicious home dishes.

One of the best menus for the week is announced for today. The "kitchen queen" will show the ladies all about the making of desserts—how to make them good to eat and pretty to look upon. Cake recipes will also be included, Mrs. Wilson devoting some time to perfection frosting, giving the audience the benefit of an open lesson in her famous icing.

The decorative specialty for today will be the "Georgia cake." This cake has been designed for and dedicated to the housewives of Georgia.

The session this afternoon will close the school, and in addition to several little surprises for the audience which are on tap, Mrs. Wilson will have some timely and interesting things to say to her audience. She has been delighted with the reception accorded her here, and it is expected that a full house will greet her this afternoon.

The following recipes were announced Thursday afternoon:

Ginger Ale Salad.

One box gelatine; one bottle ginger ale; ½ pint boiling water; one cup cold water; ½ cup sugar; ½ cup lemon juice; one cup chopped apples; one cup pineapple, chopped; one cup chopped celery; one small box crystallized ginger; ½ teaspoon of salt. Soak gelatine in cold water then dissolve in boiling water. To this add sugar, ginger ale, lemon juice and salt and allow to cool. When the mixture begins to thicken lightly stir into it other ingredients.

Frozen Vegetable Salad.

Nine large tomatoes, one stalk celery, two medium sized cucumbers, one green pepper, one tablespoon grated onion, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon grated horseradish, one cup cooked dressing, one cup whipped cream.

Peel and cut fresh tomatoes in small pieces. Put in colander to drain. Peel cucumbers thick, cut through twice, make slices in quarters. Mix with tomatoes, add celery and pepper cut fine. Mix in sauce, horseradish and onion, sprinkle with salt. Then fold in lightly cooked dressing. Have melon mold ready. Put layer of salad and some of whipped cream, then layer of salad and cream, until mould is full. Pack in ice and salt for three and half hours. When ready to serve turn out on platter of pretty lettuce leaves. Garnish with pepper rings, pass dressing.

Corn Starch Mayonnaise.

One-half cup corn starch, one-half cup cold water, one cup boiling water. Dissolve corn starch in cold water, add this to boiling water while on stove. Stir until thick, take from fire and add at once the yolks of two eggs. When cool add one cup of oil, juice of two lemons and salt and cayenne pepper to taste.

Good Sandwich Filling: One cup sweet milk, one tablespoon flour, one teaspoon salt, dash of cayenne pepper, one-half pound cream cheese, one can pimentos.

Cook milk, flour, salt and pepper and cheese over hot water until very thick. Add pimentos cut in pieces. When cold spread between bread.

Chocolate Cream Cake.

3 Eggs beaten separately.
2½ Cups flour.
1½ Cups sugar.
1 Cup sweet milk.
1 Scant cup butter.
3 Level teaspoons baking powder.
¼ Lb. chocolate melted over hot water, with
1 Tablespoonful of vanilla.

Directions For Making Chocolate Cake.

Melt chocolate in double boiler. Measure and sift flour as many times as you would for white and yellow cakes. Mix beaten yolks with sugar to butter creamed with sugar. After adding flour and whites flavor and add chocolate last.

Interesting Meeting Is Held By Atlanta Chapter, U. D. C.

The Atlanta chapter, U. D. C., held a delightful meeting on Thursday afternoon at the Woman's club room, Mrs. T. T. Stevens presided, first, asking for reports from officers. Mrs. John H. Perdue, chairman of ways and means, gave an outline of her plans for Miss Regina Rambo's recital, which will take place on Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the Ansley hotel ball room—she also stated that after the conclusion of the program, dancing would engage the attention and time of those who wished to do so, and that tickets were 50 cents, including the recital and the dance thereafter.

Miss Alice Baxter talked of Miss Mildred Rutherford's lecture to be this (Friday) evening at 8 o'clock, at the Piedmont hotel assembly hall. She also announced that Miss Minna Hecker, a colorature soprano, and pupil of Miss Margaret Hecht, would sing two numbers, "One Fine Day," from Madame Butterfly, and "The Swallows," by Dell'aqua, on the occasion of Miss Rutherford's lecture on "Southern History," and that Miss Hecker would be accompanied by Miss Margaret Hecht.

Mrs. George P. Moore gave a history of the cyclorama, from its earliest existence to the present day, concluding her remarks by most touching appeal to the daughters to inaugurate a plan by which this famous painting of the Battle of Atlanta in 1864, can be saved from permanent injury on account of being improperly cared for. Mrs. T. T. Stevens announced a committee composed of Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, Mrs. Lollie Belle Wylie, Mrs. E. L. Connolly and Mrs. George P. Moore, who will take steps regarding the cyclorama.

Mrs. Robert Ransome, the new chairman of essays, was introduced and gave a short talk. Mrs. Sallie Malone announced that the loving cup presented by the essay committee of the state U. D. C., to the Atlanta chapter at the last state convention at Thomasville, would be in the window of Eugene Haynes' jewelry store for exhibition until Saturday night.

Mrs. William C. King made a short talk on the influence wielded by the press, stressing the point that only through the kindness of the press could we, as a patriotic organization, be set on a hill, and our light be made to shine that the outside world may see our works.

Miss Hood, accompanied by Mrs. Kurt Muller, sang delightfully two songs.

Mrs. Helen Plane showed a very large picture of Stone Mountain with the model drawings in various positions on the precipitous side of the mountain.

Mrs. Plane never fails to enthuse her listeners when she talks of this stupendous project.

TECH "GIRLS" READY FOR TONIGHT'S SHOW

Marionettes Will Keep Name of Sponsor Secret Until Performance Begins.

The Tech Marionettes have everything in readiness for this presentation of "Dandy Dick" at the Atlanta theater tonight. Each of the "girls" have their voice, complexion, physique, and carriage all in readiness. Through the kindness of several of the business firms of Atlanta an extremely pretty stage setting has been made possible.

The play deals with the financial troubles of the Reverend Agastin Jedd and the temptations thrown around him by his sister and friend, the former being a reformed follower of the race track. The troubles come in the form of a race horse, "Dandy Dick." A rather clever plot is laid around the horse resulting in some very ridiculous situations.

Students of the various girl schools have engaged block seats and a large representation of the Tech alumni is expected. The fraternities are to occupy boxes and sections in the orchestra.

One of the most interesting features of the night is to be the naming of the sponsor for the club. Miss Anne Patterson was the charming sponsor for 1915, and there is much talk among the college set as to who will be appointed this year. The lady has been elected by the Marionettes, but not one of them will give out so much as a hint as to who she will be—not even the lady herself will know until she is requested to come upon the stage between acts tonight.

Seats will be on sale at the box office all day.

LYRIC TO BE DEVOTED TO BIG MUTUAL FILMS

Presence of Movie Stars Will Feature Opening on Monday Night Week.

Jake Wells announced last night that the Lyric theater would be thrown open Monday week with a permanent policy of moving pictures, and that on the opening night a number of the Mutual Film corporation's most noted stars, including the famous Marguerite Courtot will be present.

The house will be closed next week, preparing for the opening. Two new machines, a new screen and unique scenic set will be installed, and the lobby will be fashioned into an indoor palm garden.

The Lyric will be known exclusively as the Mutual picture house. The new Mutual franchise, a system of bookings, producing and advertising that bids fair to revolutionize film enterprises, has been awarded the Lyric, and here will be shown the first Mutual masterpictures de luxe edition.

A diversified program will be the policy, with a daily change. Three de luxe masterpictures will be shown weekly, and a feature picture will be on each day's program, which will also include a two-reel offering and a one-reel industrial, educational or travel picture, comic or animated cartoon. The performance will last an hour and forty-five minutes. The admission scale will be 5 and 10 cents.

An eight-piece orchestra will be installed. A permanent white way will be constructed along Carnegie way leading from Peachtree street to the Lyric.

The Mutual masterpictures de luxe will bring at early dates such productions as "As a Woman Sows," with Gertrude Robinson; "Betrayed," starring Grace de Carlton; "Lord Loveland Discovers America," with Arthur Maude; "An Innocent Crook," Malcolm Williams in "The Idol of the Stage," Helene Rosson and E. Forrest Taylor in "The White Rose," "The Bait," featuring Margaret Gibson; Florence LaBadie in "The Five Faults of Flo," and Crane Wilbur in "Vengeance Is Mine."

Marguerite Courtot, who is announced as the leading attraction for the opening night's performance, will be at the head of a galaxy of Mutual stars who will come from Jacksonville, where they are engaged in the Gaumont studios at work on de luxe masterpictures. She was recently starred in a film series, "The Ventures of Marguerite."

COLANGELO'S MUSICIANS PLEASE BIG AUDIENCE

With the largest audience of the season on hand to demonstate their appreciation of his talent, Signor Luigi Colangelo, with his famous band of high-class musicians, assisted by Miss Frances Linde, soprano, and Signor Anthony Guarino, tenor, rendered the best performance of the Alkahest Lyceum season last night at the Auditorium-Armory.

Such rare talent and ability as a leader has seldom been shown in Atlanta. His work recalled the days of grand opera season. The splendid work of the orchestra and band did not consume all the applause of the evening, for Miss Linde, who possesses a charming dramatic soprano, and Signor Guarino won their way into the hearts of the audience.

The next attraction on the lyceum schedule is scheduled for Tuesday evening, January 25, when Madam Evelyn Scotney, soprano, and Howard White, basso, of the Boston Opera company, will appear in joint recital.

DR. BRICKER TO PREACH SPECIAL SERMON SUNDAY

Dr. L. O. Bricker, who has delivered several series of sermons on the problems of human relationships which have been heard by more than fifty thousand Atlanta people, will, on the coming Sunday evening, deliver a special sermon at the First Christian church to every woman: Who is living unhappily with her husband; who may be meditating divorce; who would be a mediator in other people's troubles, the subject being, "The Tares in Life's Harvest Field."

CARPENTER IS INJURED

Coleman Falls From Scaffolding at Warehouse.

P. L. Coleman, aged 39, of 373 Mangum street, was taken to the Grady hospital late Thursday afternoon, painfully injured, from having fallen from a scaffolding at the Candler warehouse, where he was employed as a carpenter.

Coleman was said to have fallen from the top of the warehouse, where he was tearing down some scaffolding.

He sustained a broken leg, broken arm and painful bruises about the head and face.

Revival Is Successful.

A stirring revival is in progress at the First Congregational church, colored, where there have been during the week over forty conversions. The preacher, Rev. D. J. Flynn, of Charlotte, N. C., is proving to be the most eloquent evangelist of his race ever heard in this city. One of the converts has been the leading colored prizefighter of the city, Professor Sidney Woodward leads in the singing. A service of special interest is scheduled for tonight. # TRAIN DISPATCHER FOR SOUTHERN RY. NOW INDORSES IT

Prominent Railway Official Says He Is Enjoying Splendid Health Since Taking Tanlac.

Although people in every walk of life and of various degrees of prominence have given their unqualified indorsement to Tanlac, the "Master Medicine," an unusually large number of railroad men, including superintendents, conductors, engineers, firemen, trainmen and in fact men representing every branch of the great industry, have testified to benefits derived from the use of this preparation.

Among the latest to add their names to this ever increasing roll is W. P. Gould, train dispatcher for the Southern railway in Birmingham. For 33 years Mr. Gould has filled this most important position on numbers of the larger railroad systems of the country, and for several years has worked "second trick" out of Birmingham.

Any one familiar with the operation of a trunk line railroad can appreciate the responsibility which the dispatcher assumes when he goes on duty, and a clear head and steady nerves are the first requisites to qualify a man for this class of work.

"There were lots of nights when I would have been glad to turn my work over to someone else if possible," said Mr. Gould to the Tanlac representative. "I was subject to awful spells of headaches that would nearly put me out of business. Starting in my lower forehead, the pain would extend to the back of my head, and would hang to me for days at a time.

"My head felt stopped up most of the time, and I could not breathe freely. After eating I had an uncomfortable feeling or fullness, and didn't seem to digest my food. I was troubled a great deal with constipation, and nothing in the way of treatment seemed to give any permanent relief.

"About two months ago I made up my mind to give Tanlac, of which I had heard and read so much, a trial, and from the time I had used one-half a bottle I haven't had the headache. My head is clear and I notice I am not so susceptible to colds. The medicine has toned me up wonderfully; has improved my appetite and I am much stronger and better in every way.

"I have taken five bottles of the medicine and have started on the sixth. While I dislike publicity, I have derived so much good from the use of Tanlac that I am glad to say this much in its behalf, as I think it a most excellent tonic."

Tanlac is sold in Atlanta exclusively by Jacobs Pharmacy.—(adv.)

INTEREST IS SHOWN IN EMORY CAMPAIGN

Methodist Educational Commission Greatly Pleased by Plans for University.

"What will Atlanta do next week?"

This is the all-important question that is being asked by the members of the Methodist Episcopal church throughout the entire south and also over the entire country.

It was the last expression by members of the southern educational commission of the Methodist church, which adjourned its two-day annual session in Atlanta at the Piedmont hotel Thursday morning.

On Tuesday, January 18, Atlanta begins a campaign to raise $500,000 for Emory university. Millions of dollars will be needed for the completion of the extensive and comprehensive plans.

Preston S. Arkwright, one of Atlanta's leading citizens, is chairman of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce campaign committee, which next week will buckle down to one of the greatest undertakings in its career—to raise the $500,000 for Emory university and thus demonstrate to the rest of the southland that "Atlanta's heart is in the right place."

One year ago the education commission chose Atlanta as the site for Emory university. On Wednesday this commission, as a whole, visited the site of the university. They were pleased with the progress that has been made, and, upon testing out the "feeling" in Atlanta towards the plans for making Emory the greatest of American universities, the commission is satisfied that Atlanta will carry out its part of the program next week. This is one of the highest tributes paid to Atlanta in some time, and it comes from the leading educators and ministers of the Methodist Episcopal church to be found in the United States.

FAIN MADE PRESIDENT OF THE GRAIN DEALERS

W. L. Fain, of the W. L. Fain Grain company, was re-elected as president of the Grain Dealers' association, of Atlanta, Thursday, at its annual meeting without opposition. T. W. Martin, of Smith & Martin, was elected first vice president; T. J. Brooke, of T. J. Brooke & Co., second vice president; A. C. Woolley, of A. C. Woolley & Co., secretary and treasurer; E. E. Smith, assistant secretary.

W. L. Fain, T. W. Martin, T. J. Brooke, J. W. Russell, J. R. Bachman, Almon Morgan and Joseph Gregg, Sr., were elected as directors.

Nearly 1,000 cars of hay was inspected by the chief inspector last year. This report seemed to please the members. The main feature of the work of the chief inspector during the year, though, was his work in the case known as the Nashville reshipping case. In winning this case Atlanta jobbers are permitted to reship flour and grain to local territory on through rates.

Turns Detective To Save Himself From Jail Term

Did Not Know Name, and Couldn't Furnish Description, But Sanford Maddox Manages to Find His Man.

Sanford Maddox, colored, turned detective in his own behalf yesterday, and as a result of his ability as a sleuth, William Griswell must face trial in the United States criminal court on a charge of stealing property belonging to the government.

The efforts of Maddox to get himself out of trouble were nothing short of remarkable. In that he was able to bring about the arrest of Griswell by successfully combing the city for a man whose name he did not know, and of whom he could not furnish a description which would enable an officer to make the arrest.

A short time ago Maddox was arraigned before the United States commissioner on a charge of stealing property belonging to the government, it being alleged that he purloined a navy officer's overcoat. He stoutly maintained that he had purchased the garment but could not furnish sufficient evidence to sustain this declaration, nor could he give such a description as to furnish a clue upon which the officers could work.

Following the posting of bond for his appearance in the criminal court, Maddox received a suggestion that he locate the seller of the overcoat. "That's just what I will do," he said.

The negro visited saloons, clothing stores and other places day in and day out without success. On Thursday, however, he happened to be passing a busy corner when he saw a familiar face. He called to Griswell and reminded the latter of their negotiations. Griswell recalled the deal, and a policeman was called. In the presence of the officer, Griswell admitted selling the coat to the negro. Upon the latter's request, Griswell was arrested.

Arraigned before United States Commissioner J. B. Gaston, of Gainesville, who is serving here in the absence of Commissioner Colquitt Carter, Griswell admitted making the sale, and was held under bond of $200, in default of which he went to jail. He maintained that he bought the garment from a soldier whose name he did not learn.

Although Maddox still is under bond to appear in federal court, he doubtless will be released following the introduction of the evidence given by Maddox before Judge Gaston Thursday.

SLAIN MAN FOUND IN WELL WAS WM. RANDALL

Was Augusta Chauffeur—Believed He Was Robbed, Shot and Thrown in Well.

Augusta, Ga., January 13.—As a result of an investigation begun here today by the mother of William Randall, an Augusta chauffeur, the body of a man found in an old well near Sylvania, Ga., Wednesday, was identified today as that of Randall. According to information received here the man had been clubbed and shot to death.

It was said that Randall left here Friday, last, being employed to carry a man to Savannah in his automobile. Police advanced the theory that Randall's automobile might have been used for purposes of robbery and the chauffeur killed, either in resisting this, or to prevent him giving information. The man who employed Randall was said to have given his name as "James Jinkins," of Millen, Ga., but reports from Millen tonight said no such man was known there. "Jinkin's" subsequent connection, if any, with Randall's death is not known here.

Descriptions of the body published in a local newspaper today prompted Mrs. Randall's investigation. It also was said that a negro who found the body reported having seen automobile tracks near the well last Friday. Sylvania lies between here and Savannah.

ALLEGED HIGHWAYMAN QUICKLY CAPTURED

Only 30 minutes after he is said to have knocked James Johnson, Jr., resident of 38 Battle street, in the head with a two-pound sledge hammer, in front of Johnson's residence, Lonnie Pew, a negro, was arrested by Call Officers Hughes and Hudson and $2.50, alleged to have been stolen from Johnson, was recovered.

According to Officer Hudson, Pew accosted Johnson just as the latter was entering his front yard. After Johnson had turned around to see who was calling him, the negro then hit him in the head with the hammer, it is charged.

Pew is being held at police headquarters without bond, on charges of highway robbery.

Johnson identified him as the negro who struck and robbed him.

MAYOR PRO TEM. DINED BY FRIENDS IN COUNCIL

Jesse Armistead Lauded at Informal Dinner Given Last Night at the Ansley.

Mayor Pro Tem. Jesse W. Armistead was entertained at an informal dinner yesterday evening at the Ansley hotel by the members of council who elected him as the assistant executive of the city.

There were seventeen members of council who voted for him, including his opponent, Charles H. Kelley.

Councilman A. W. Farlinger was toastmaster and introduced the speakers, the mayor pro tem. speaking first.

Mr. Farlinger said that the informal gathering was to do honor to the alderman who was to preside over the deliberations of council.

"We made a most excellent choice," said Mr. Farlinger, "and I believe that you will agree with me that he will give us a wise, fair and just administration."

Armistead Gives Ovation.

Mr. Armistead received an ovation when he arose to speak.

"I like such gatherings as this," he said, "for I think it a good thing for men to meet and counsel together for the good of the city. I hope that there will be similar gatherings during the year. There is one thing I wish to speak of and it is this: Let's do not be too hurried in passing legislation, for I believe that all laws should be carefully weighed and considered by reference to committees. I trust that during my administration we will all relegate petty politics to the shades of forgetfulness and death and have for our one shibboleth 'Atlanta and her people.' I thank you for this honor and assure you that I shall remember it by trying to act with all fairness and impartiality."

The next speaker was Gordon N. Hurtel, of The Constitution, who was called upon to speak for the press. He paid a tribute to the mayor pro tem. and promised that the press would always be behind the council in its efforts to give the people a clean administration and to upbuild the city.

Johnson Praises Armistead.

Councilman Edwin F. Johnson spoke next, and he said that he had by close association with Mr. Armistead found him to be above all things loyal to his friends and to the city he represented.

"I believe that every member of the present council," he said, "has the best interests of the city at heart, and with such a man as Mr. Armistead as their presiding officer will do a great work for the city this year."

The last speaker was Councilman Frank Reynolds, who led the fight for Mr. Armistead in his race for mayor pro tem.

"I did all for a man whom I knew to be of the right quality," he said, "but there were others who did as much. It was my pleasure to nominate him, and nothing that I have done in council gave me more happiness. We will get behind him and all pull together for our great city. We want peace and quiet, and prosperity will be sure to follow."

The dinner ended with a handshaking and many wishes to Mr. Armistead for a successful administration.

HARTMAN RETURNS TO THE TRENCHES; WOUNDED RECENTLY

Mr. Steinichen has two other nephews in the German army, one in the infantry and the other one in the artillery.

Federal Reserve Bank Directors Entertained By Hillyer in Macon

Many matters of importance to the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta were considered yesterday at a meeting of the directors, which was well attended. Shortly afternoon a recess was taken to give the bankers an opportunity to visit Macon, where, Thursday afternoon and Thursday night, they were entertained by L. P. Hillyer. No statement as to the business which was transacted at the meetings will be made prior to the adjournment of the meeting. It is expected that the session will come to a close Friday afternoon. Much interest attaches to the meeting in financial circles, and the directors appear to be pleased with the work being done at the local government institution. The report for the first year of the bank's history, which was announced during the early part of the present month, showed profits of more than $82,000.

NEGRO IS BOUND OVER FOR SHOE STORE THEFT

Arthur Waters, a negro, residing in darktown, was held to the grand jury under bond of $500 by Recorder Johnson in police matinee Thursday afternoon, following his arrest by Detectives Moon and Wagner on charges of having burglarized the Rothenberg shoe store at 231 Edgewood avenue, Wednesday at midnight.

According to the detectives, Waters smashed an $80 plate glass window and after gaining entrance through it to the store, took therefrom several pairs of expensive shoes.

The shoes were found in the negro's possession. He claimed to have purchased them from a negro friend, whose name he did not know.

AUGUSTA BOY HURT IN RAILROAD YARDS

Augusta, Ga., January 13.—(Special.) Herbert Smart, sixteen years old, had both legs crushed by an engine in the Port Royal yards of the Charleston and Western Carolina railway Wednesday morning. The boy was marking cars, and failed to notice the approach of the engine.

He was taken to the University hospital and one leg amputated below the knee. Efforts will be made to save the other limb if possible, and, while it is not yet certain, hope is entertained that his life can be saved.

STATE ROAD HEARING WILL BE POSTPONED

State's Answer Will Probably Not Be Filed Before Saturday, January 22.

Attorneys for the state of Georgia and for the North Georgia Mineral railway yesterday agreed to ask Judge J. T. Pendleton, of Fulton superior court, for a postponement of the hearing of the mandamus proceedings against Secretary of State Phil Cook, which is set for Saturday, January 15. If the court accedes, as is customary where both sides have agreed, the state's answer will not be filed before Saturday, January 22, or, perhaps, Monday, January 24.

Following a temporary restraining order granted on petition of the state by Judge A. W. Fite, of the Blue Ridge circuit, several weeks ago, restraining the Louisville and Nashville railroad from proceeding further with its plan of seeking permission from the state to build a road from Wofford's crossing, near Cartersville, to Marietta, the North Georgia Mineral railway, planned to be a subsidiary company of the Louisville and Nashville, secured a mandamus from Judge Pendleton, seeking to compel the secretary of state to grant a charter asked by the North Georgia Mineral some eighteen months ago to build a road from White's, near Cartersville, to Atlanta.

Both moves on the part of the railroads are a part of the effort of the Louisville and Nashville to build a line of railroad paralleling the Western and Atlantic railroad, to prohibit which the general assembly in August, 1915, passed an amendment to the code of 1910.

Attorney General Clifford Walker, who has been in Washington practically ever since the mandamus matter came up, Thursday requested from King & Spalding, of Atlanta, attorneys for the North Georgia Mineral railway, who are also attorneys for the Louisville and Nashville, for an agreement to a time extension for the hearing, in order that the attorney general might have more time to study the case. Assistant Attorney General Mark Bolding and Colonel Horace M. Holden, of Athens, special counsel for the state in Louisville and Nashville-Western and Atlantic matters, have been studying the case ever since the railroad filed its mandamus and have been preparing the state's answer.

Following the attorney general's request, King & Spalding submitted the date of Thursday, January 20, for the postponed hearing, and Attorney General Walker then asked that the date be fixed not earlier than Saturday, January 22, to which, Mr. Walker stated, King & Spalding agreed.

MEN WHO ENGAGED IN FIGHT IN SALOON FINED BY RECORDER

Four participants in an alleged free-for-all fight in a Decatur street saloon Wednesday night were each fined $5.75 by Recorder Johnson in police matinee Thursday afternoon, even though two of the combatants testified that the fight had started when they had been relieved of some $3 or $9 by persons in the saloon.

G. C. Moran, R. N. Edwards, R. R. Garner and D. A. Moran were the fighters, who told the recorder that they had been drinking and the last two had lost the money, therefore starting the disturbance.

SOUTHERN CONDITIONS BOOSTED BY HARAHAN

Seaboard President Is Entertained at Dinner Given by Robert F. Maddox.

That conditions throughout the southern states are most encouraging and the present year will be one of unusual prosperity is the belief of President W. J. Harahan, of the Seaboard Air Line Railway company, as expressed yesterday at a luncheon given in his honor by Robert F. Maddox.

Mr. Maddox entertained eleven prominent Atlantans at the luncheon, which was held at the Capital City club, and which was an event of great enjoyment. The guests were Messrs. Harahan, Clark Howell, Jack J. Spalding, E. T. Lamb, Colonel R. J. Lowry, John D. Little, John E. Murphy, J. Epps Brown, P. S. Arkwright, C. A. Wickersham and W. L. Peel.

"Earnings of railroads throughout the southern states are increasing," said the Seaboard president, "and conditions are improving steadily. I have just visited the Birmingham district, where I found that the iron and steel industries are working to their full capacity. In the Carolinas cotton mills are furnishing employment for thousands and are putting out large quantities of material. Farmers are laboring under satisfactory conditions, and merchants appear to be prosperous."

Dealing with the work on the Seaboard's line from Charleston to Savannah, Mr. Harahan predicted that it will be ready for use by the approaching fall. The distance is about 85 miles, and already rails have been laid over about 35 miles of this distance. Large forces of workmen are employed, and the management of the system is greatly pleased with the progress which has been made.

Mr. Harahan left in his private car Thursday night at 4 o'clock after spending two days in Atlanta. While here he familiarized himself with local conditions as they affect the system which he heads.

New York, January 13.—The cotton market was quiet today with prices sagging off to 12.47 for March under scattering liquidation and with the close barely steady at a net loss of from 3 to 10 points.

Liverpool was relatively steady at the hour of the local opening, while early advices from the south indicated generally steady spot markets late yesterday. The market here started steady at an advance of 6 points to a decline of 2 points, with old crop positions relatively firm in sympathy with the cables. Liverpool was a moderate buyer of the near months, but otherwise there was little support in evidence and prices soon turned easier under scattering liquidation and local liquidation.

The idea that the low temperature reported in the south would reduce the danger of insect damage and talk that the high prices obtainable for cotton seed for forward deliveries were likely to encourage increased acreage, may possibly have promoted some of the selling. It seemed, too, that more or less uneasiness was felt with reference to the situation in Mexico and an easier turn in the Liverpool market was also a factor on the local decline. Selling was not active or aggressive, but prices gradually worked lower, with May selling off to 12.69, July to 12.81 and October to 12.60 late in the afternoon. Closing prices were at practically the low point of the day.

General business was extremely quiet during the entire session. There seemed to be very few orders here from the south, and comparatively few reports were received with reference to the spot situation. Reports that Fall River cotton mill operatives had voted to accept a 5 per cent increase in wages were taken as indicating that labor troubles in that section had been averted.

Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands 12.50; no sales.

New Orleans Sags 4 to 6 Points.

New Orleans, January 13.—The cotton market here again moved within a narrow range today, influences about balancing and no developments arising to stimulate fresh operations of consequence, either for a rise or a fall in prices. In the early trading the market stood 3 to 4 points us, in response to better cables than due. This was followed by a sagging movement in which the trading months were put 5 to 6 points under yesterday's last quotations. The close was steady at a net loss of 4 to 6 points.

The embargo declared on freight shipments by an eastern railroad system was considered a bearish influence and led to moderate selling on the theory that it might curtail supplies of raw material in New England mill points, but this feature was offset by reports of small offerings of spots in the interior and firmness of prices.

Officials of the local cotton exchange today telegraphed the state department urging that an effort be made to induce Italy to release sufficient vessels of those she has commandeered to relieve the congestion in cotton shipping, which is declared to exist between the south and Italy.

Spot cotton steady, unchanged. Sales on the spot 560 bales; to arrive 805. Good ordinary 10.49; strict good ordinary 11.05; low middling 11.69; strict low middling 11.94; middling 12.19; strict middling 12.44; good middling 12.76; strict good middling 13. Receipts 5,313; stock 440,790.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, January 13.—(Special.)—A brisk demand for spot cotton in Liverpool yet obtains with the middling upland basis advancing daily. It remains to be seen whether the reported increase in bottoms attracted to cotton ports as a result of the highly remunerative freight rates becomes a reality. Should such anticipation materialize a heavy export movement can be looked for, which will have a sentimentally bullish effect on this market as it will sell exports to encouraging figures.

We have been constantly calling attention to the fact that the stipulation abroad, as regards supplies, is rapidly becoming one of necessity and our views in this respect are firmer than ever. Very few have the courage to sell short, knowing that facts are the present construction of this market.

SHEARSON, HAMILTON & CO.

New York, January 13.—(Special.)—In the last nine weeks we have been running behind a similar date in 1909-1910 in the mill takings. If we continue to run behind that year for the next thirty weeks we will have an unwieldly visible and invisible supply.

In round figures we have, without including mill stocks, about four million more bales than we had six years ago, and if we continue on the same small scale of mill takings we will finish the year four million statistically more bearish than then, and four million bales is a lot of cotton for any one to hold from one crop into another.

The Liverpool market closed easy on the nears and steady on the distant months today. This is first evidence we have seen of the demand finishing itself in that country. The January engagements on this are also nearly through with and by the latter part of next week we expect to see much more eagerness to sell at 12 cents than is now shown and much less eagerness to buy.

Until statistics, the war, finances or the next crop furnishes some real and definite bullish news on cotton we advise our friends to let it alone.

RENSKORF, LYON & CO.

New York, January 13.—(Special.)—Cables this morning were about as due, but the market here was under the same local pressure as has been the case before, and prices eased off slowly through the morning. Wall street was a good seller, partly in liquidation of some fall months, which were bought on the preceding decline.

In the later afternoon the security market was easier owing to apprehension over the Mexican situation, and this easiness was immediately reflected in our market. Business all day was on a small scale and there was little or no business from the south, which as yet shows no disposition to press its cotton on the market. Meantime, there is a generally good demand for spot cotton, which is reflected in the purchases of the near months here covering hedges. The local sentiment is still bearish.

HUBBARD BROS.

New Orleans, January 13.—(Special.)—The market today has been a small affair, the trading having been extremely light and almost entirely professional and the fluctuations unimportant. Speculation appears to have subsided and in the absence of a fresh demand scalpers have sold again, although continual reports of a better demand in the spot markets have prevented much decline.

Sentiment is bearish as a result of the export situation, but at the prevailing tremendous discount from Liverpool we should not care to follow a decline as a regulation of freight rates or anything which would be calculated to improve the export situation would doubtless be quickly reflected in an improvement on the domestic markets.

C. P. ELLIS & CO.

New York, January 13.—(Special.)—While Liverpool's buying held the market steady during the first hour today, prices subsequently declined about 10 points owing to rather liberal liquidation for domestic accounts. There is no broadening in general business and the trading represents liquidation for the most part.

At present differences Liverpool is covering its hedges here and that demand furnishes an outlet for those who have been holding contracts.

JAY, BOND & CO.

New Orleans, January 13.—(Special.)—The American markets ruled quiet throughout the session with a slightly easier tendency. The selling came from Wall street and trading interests and was induced by the small available tonnage for export, together with a rumor that the New Haven railroad had placed an embargo on freight which might affect the shipment of cotton to New England mills. Inasmuch as press reports recently announced that all cotton warehouses in that section were full to overflowing it seems unlikely that the spinning industry would be much effected, especially as coastwise steamers are still operating.

President Stewart, of the New Orleans Cotton exchange, wired Secretary Lansing asking that an effort be made to induce the Italian government to release sufficient tonnage to relieve the freight situation between the southern and Italian ports.

THORN & M'GINNIS.

Coffee.

New York, January 13.—The market for coffee futures was more or less unsettled by conflicting rumors with reference to the cost and freight situation today. An opening decline was mostly recovered, however, and reports that ocean freight rates on grain had advanced again yesterday were taken as a further indication of the increasing scarcity of ocean tonnage. The market opened at a decline of 5 to 10 points with May selling at 7.07 and July at 7.18, or about 25 to 27 points under the high level of last Monday. There was further scattering liquidation on this decline, but offerings were pretty well taken with the price of May recovering to 7.14, while July sold up to 7.25 in the last trading.

The close was steady, 1 to 2 points net lower. Sales, 14,250.

Spot coffee quiet; Rio sevens, 8; Santos fours, 9½.

Sales were reported of Santos fours in the cost and freight market at 8.50, English credits. Rumors of lower offerings were indefinite.

The official cables reported no change in Brazilian milreis prices. Rio exchange on London was 1-1d lower. Brazilian port receipts, 57,000; Jundiahy, 27,000.

SECURITY MARKET AGAIN DEPRESSED

War Shares Helped by Belief That No Embargo Will Be Placed on Munition Exports—Other Groups Sag.

New York, January 13.—Efforts to lift the market out of its recent slough of depression by a concerted drive against the increasing short interest in special stocks, proved abortive in today's dull and professional market. A few of the war order shares made sharp recoveries from low prices of yesterday, particularly Crucible Steel, which was helped by the company's favorable statement of earnings for December. Another encouraging development in that quarter was the report that the administration at Washington had registered its opposition to any legislation aimed at an embargo on exports of munitions.

There were numerous substantial gains in high priced specialties, including United States Industrial Alcohol common and preferred, American Coal Products and other issues of kindred caliber, but the movement in these stocks was plainly manipulative and excited no general interest. Coppers for a time displayed a better tone on unconfirmed rumors of export orders at the new high price of 24½c.

During the mid-session the rise gathered further impetus from a demand for high class rails, including New York Central and some of the Pacifics, as well as Chesapeake and Ohio, New Haven and the southern group. Gains were largely, if not wholly, wiped out in the final hour, when heavy selling of Mexican issues was resumed. Mexican Petroleum made an extreme decline of 6 points to 110½ and American Smelting dropped 3⅝ to 103¾.

United States Steel, which manifested an irregular tendency at the outset, fell away with other leaders toward the close, its final quotation of 86¼ representing a net loss of ⅝.

With the exception of Italian remittances, lires falling to the new low record of 677, foreign exchange was fairly strong. Buying of bills on Germany continued, with marks at 76. International bankers were reported to have received additional instalments of American securities for sale in this market. The Bank of England's weekly statement showed no noteworthy changes.

Bonds were firm during the forenoon, with further heavy trading in Mercantile Marine 4½s and New York Central debentures 6s. Total sales of bonds, par value, were $4,230,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Grain and Live Stock Farmer Come Into Own

Spectacular Prices for Hogs and New High Records for Corn and Wheat Enrich Farmers Who Realized That the World Must Eat.

Chicago, January 13.—Highest prices yet on the 1915 crop were scored in the wheat market today, chiefly because of the cold wave. A reaction followed, however, and the close was unsettled at ⅛@⅜ to ⅝@⅞c net advance, with May at $1.28¼@1.28⅝ and July at $1.21⅝@1.21⅝. Other leading staples, too, all showed gains—corn, ⅜@⅝ to ½@⅝c; oats, ⅝ to ¾c, and provisions 2½ to 15c.

Top prices of the day in wheat came shortly after the opening. The severely cold weather had brought about active buying, which was increased by predictions that the Arctic temperatures would continue for several days, and would increase the likelihood of extensive damage to the winter crop. Besides, advices were at hand, that British import requirements promised to be larger than expected, and that the amount of wheat on ocean passage probably would show a decided falling off. There were also bullish estimates current as to the amount of domestic farm reserves. However, a pause was very noticeable in export demand, and it was said that English buyers were refusing outright to follow the advance. Liberal selling by longs ensued and, at times the market appeared to be leaning to the bear side.

Just before the close, good supporting orders for wheat were encountered and in the final dealings a lively rally was ta

Charley Frank Will Ask Waivers on All Players on Locals

No Player on Roster Immune—Locals Not to Be Farmed This Year—Training Camp Certainty.

By Dick Jemison.

Manager Charles Frank, of the Crackers, dropped a bombshell in baseball circles yesterday when he announced to a crowd of fans in front of his headquarters in the Ansley hotel that he was going to ask waivers on every ball player on the Atlanta team.

He made no exception in this announcement. This includes Bisland, Moran, Reed, Allen, Perry, Day, Redding, Hiett, Thrasher, Niederkorn and Munch.

We questioned his judgment regarding asking waivers on some of the players mentioned above, but the shrewd Dutchman only looked at us and smiled. He has some ideas of his own as to how to run a ball club, and his record proves that he's not prone to make false moves, so we passed it by without any further questioning.

Frank, however, is known to have a kindly feeling towards some of the players left over from last year's team. Which ones he would not state. He is seeking first-hand information concerning them, and when he is certain of his ground he'll ask the waivers.

Don't worry about him cutting adrift from any of them that he believes will be of service to him. That's not Charley Frank's method. But if he asks waivers on any of the men listed above, you can gamble that he believes that they're through and he'll be just about right, too.

Training Camp Site.

We tried to pin him down on the training camp site proposition. But other than to say that he has offers for eight places, he would not say anything.

Frank is looking for the best proposition, and when it comes along he will take it, but the fans can be certain of one thing, the Crackers are going to train elsewhere than in Atlanta.

"From all I can learn," said Frank Thursday, "Atlantans are not crazy about this exhibition stuff, and a minor league ball club gets very little benefit playing the big fellows either. So we'll pass it up. About three or four weeks in a good warm climate getting in shape, with an exhibition game or so while there and then we'll hike back home.

"I'm planning on arranging for games with Tech and Georgia, and if I can secure them, these are the only games that we will play in Atlanta before starting the regular season."

No Farm This Year.

Atlanta will not be any farm for a big league team this year or any other year that Manager Frank has any connection with the local club. The local mogul takes a positive stand in this connection.

"This business of training ball players for major league clubs doesn't sit well with me," said Manager Frank yesterday afternoon. "I've received a dozen offers of players from major league clubs since I arrived here, but they were all with strings attached.

"None of that stuff for me. If I can't buy a ball player outright, I don't want him at all. How does it work out. Look at your Atlanta team for the past three years, for instance. Take your pennant winner of 1913. What did you have left to start the new season on, a couple of ball players that no one wanted and a few worn-out uniforms.

"I'm out to develop ball players. I want good ball players, and I'm going to have good ball players. There will be a plenty of them, don't worry, but they're going to belong to the Atlanta Baseball association, and if at the end of the season, they've shown enough to attract attention, we'll realize something on them. At least we'll have some money to go out and buy some good players for the following season."

Manager Frank is biding his time. He's in no hurry to sign up ball players. He has not sent out a single contract as yet, and doesn't intend to for quite a while. The time limit is March 1 this season instead of February 1 as formerly for sending contracts to players.

The Welterweights.

Tomorrow will be the thirty-second birthday of "Honey" Mellody, who was the last welterweight championship claimant to gain any general recognition. Billy claimed the honors of that division in 1906, when he defeated Joe Walcott, but the Barbados Demon had previously been whipped by another colored fighter, Dixie Kid. Honey lost to Mike (Twin) Sullivan, and since then the title has been claimed by Jimmy Gardner, Jimmy Clabby, Ray Bronson, Clarence Ferns and several others, the latest being Ted Lewis, the English boxer, who recently defeated Willie Ritchie.

Cubs Train at Tampa.

Chicago, January 13.—The Cubs are to leave for the Tampa training grounds March 5 on a special train, and are due to arrive March 7, eleven days before the day of their first game with Philadelphia.

LOOKING THEM OVER

WITH BILLY EVANS

STORIES AND FACTS ABOUT DIAMOND STARS.

"Germany" Schaefer as a member of the Washington team always had a lot of fun when his team played against Philadelphia. Connie Mack and Schaefer are best of friends, yet Schaefer enjoyed nothing better than putting over a laugh at Connie's expense. As a rule, Connie enjoyed Schaefer's comedy as much as the spectators, and usually he let Herman get away with his stuff. I always laugh when I think of one Mack put over Schaefer, and strangely enough at the time Connie was not in a humor to exchange pleasantries.

Early in the game in question, the Athletics had gotton away to an early lead and seemed to have the contest cinched. About the sixth inning Mack's pitchers began to waver, the Nationals began to hit, and, although Mack sent in two rescue twirlers, the Washington club almost closed up the gap between the teams. With one-run lead, every member of Mack's pitching staff except one of the youngsters, was in left field warming up, so as to be ready if called upon.

The batting rally had been a source of great pleasure to Schaefer. He had been having all kinds of fun on the third base coaching lines at the expense of the Mackmen. Noticing one young pitcher remaining on the bench, he yelled to Mack, who was a bit peeved at the sudden turn of affairs.

"Say, Connie, get all the pitchers out there, you will need them before the game is over." Almost before he had finished the remark the youngster, either of his own free will or at the command of Mack, left the bench and started for left field. With a smile Mack replied: "I don't have to tell them to warm up, Washington is here and they all want to pitch."

Few veteran batsmen relish hitting against Walter Johnson. Such being the case, it is easy to imagine how a recruit feels when making his debut with Johnson pitching. I know of one recruit who played his first American league game against Washington, with Johnson doing the twirling. The youngster had been regarded as a pretty fair hitter in the minors. In this game he struck out four times, didn't even make a foul. His poor showing robbed him of much of his confidence, that he might have retained had he started against some other pitcher. He was shortly sent back to the minors and is now playing in an obscure minor league, probably destined to remain there, although a few years ago he was regarded as a most promising big league prospect.

In this connection I recall a very fine compliment I heard one of the American league batters pay Johnson last season. It came about in a most unusual way. With two on the bases and two out, the player in question came to bat. He is generally regarded as a fellow very dangerous in a pinch, prone to come through with the timely hit. With the count two balls and two strikes, I called him out on a perfect third strike, a fast ball that had all of Johnson's magnificent power back of it. It was as good a strike as ever crossed the plate. The average batsman hates to have the third strike called. Even if it is perfect, nine times out of ten he will register some kind of a complaint, too high or too low, inside or out. As I called the third strike, the star turned and said:

"Where was that one, Bill?"

"Right through the center of the plate, waist high," I replied.

"I suppose it was," he answered, with a smile, "for I must confess I didn't even see it, so I don't know."

Quite a testimonial to Johnson's speed.

GEORGIA FIVE HERE ON SATURDAY NIGHT

The Atlanta Athletic club basketball team winds up its practice tonight in preparation for the first big game of the season on the local floor, which will be played Saturday night, with the University of Georgia quintet.

This will be the first of two games between the two teams, the second game to be played in Athens later in the season.

Georgia turns out, year after year, the best college basketball five in the south, and one that contends with the athletic clubs and Y. M. C. A.'s of the south the title in this section.

The local squad realizes that they have a fierce battle on their hands, and will put in their best line-up for the game. Additional interest will be added to the game by reason of the fact that there are several former Georgia stars on the Atlanta Athletic club team. Forbes, Lester, E. Carter and F. Carter, all starred formerly at the university.

Two Atlanta boys are on the Georgia squad. They are Fox and Floyd. This will add a little more touch to the game. As quite a good percentage of Georgia graduates are members of the Atlanta Athletic club, the spectators Saturday night will be about evenly divided in their sympathies.

TODAY IN PUGILISM

1891—Bob Fitzsimmons defeated Jack Dempsey in 13 rounds at New Orleans. It was just a quarter of a century ago today that the Australian gained his first world's championship by wresting the middleweight honors from the famous Irish "Nonpareil." Bob had taken part in only a couple of comparatively unimportant bouts since landing in America, and, while his boxing genius was recognized by the wise ones, he was still something of an unknown quantity to the majority of the fans. The battle was epochal, for it marked the triumph of science and skill over courage and strength, and presaged the coming triumph of Corbett over Sullivan. The contest was for the middleweight championship of the world, the diamond belt held by Dempsey, and $11,000, of which the winner was to get $10,000. Nowadays a champion makes a small fortune even out of his defeat, but poor Dempsey got barely enough to cover expenses. In every round but the fourth Fitzsimmons had the lead. Poor Dempsey was completely outclassed, and took an awful beating before he succumbed.

1901—Kid Broad and Dave Sullivan fought 25-round draw in Louisville.

M'CRACKEN PROMOTING BOUT, NOT RICKARD

New York, January 13.—When asked who the promoter of the proposed Willard-Moran fight was, Tex Rickard said:

"Sam McCracken, a lifelong friend of mine, who has been in the circus business for the past twenty years, is the real promoter of the Willard-Moran fight. I am assisting in financing McCracken and lending the advice that my experience in handling championship affairs enables me to give. McCracken has handled the biggest propositions in his line and I have the fullest confidence that he will be able to stage this bout as well as any man in the world."

PLENTY OF ACTION AT CASINO TONIGHT

There will be plenty of action tonight at the Casino Skating rink, when Frank Whitney stages his boxing show at popular prices, the opening bout starting at 8:30 o'clock, twenty-seven rounds of boxing in all.

In the main bout, Eddie Hanlon, of Atlanta, and Yank O'Brien, of Jacksonville, two welterweights, will fight. This will be a grudge battle. O'Brien will endeavor once again to show that he is Hanlon's master, while the latter will try to reverse the last meeting by slipping over a kay-o. Both are ready for the gong.

In the eighth round semi-windup, Battling Budd and Young Feldman will meet. This should be a splendid bout and Budd will probably get the hardest test he has received in a local ring. Feldman recently defeated Kid Underwood.

There will be a six-round and two four-round preliminaries. The general admission will be 50 cents, and the ringside seats $1.50.

Basketball, the Youngest Of Major Sports, Growing Yearly in Popularity

By "Gravy."

"Play ball!" cried Eve, tossing the apple to Adam. And ever since their descendants have been doing so. The instinct to evolve games in which balls of various kinds figure seems to be universal, and its history is, as the highbrows say, lost in the mists of antiquity. The earth itself is a ball, although slightly flattened in spots, as if it had been pasted on the trademark by some celestial Ty Cobb. When the first palefaces invaded this now well-known continent they found Poor Lo amusing himself with a ball game which the French afterward called lacrosse. Baseball, which is a development of the older games of rounders and "town ball;" football, which was first played by the English with the head of a captured Dane as the ball; cricket, billiards, tennis, golf, hockey, polo, bowling, basketball and various other games are played with balls.

Youngest of the popular ball games is basketball, which passes the quarter-century mark this year, having been invented in 1891 by Dr. James Naismith, then director of physical training at the Springfield, Mass., training school, but later with the University of Kansas. It was twenty-four years ago, come tomorrow, on January 15, 1892, that the first match basketball game was played at Springfield between two class teams. In the previous month, at a meeting of the faculty of the Springfield school, the need of some new mode of exercise was discussed. It was agreed that there was a demand for a sport that would provide plenty of action without brutality, and which would serve the purpose of scientific physical development. Dr. Naismith gave much thought to the problem, and soon evolved the game of basketball. The first contest demonstrated that the new sport had a powerful appeal. Goals were then made of iron hoops from which nets were suspended. The latter were at first so woven as to hold the ball, but later it was found desirable to change the nets so that the ball would drop through to the playing floor.

The Y. M. C. A. was largely responsible for the immediate and widespread popularity of basketball. The game is now played by nearly 175,000 boys and men in the United States and Canada, and probably has more devotees than any other sport, with the exception of baseball. Nor is basketball confined to America, for it has been introduced with great success in several European countries, and in the Philippines, China, Japan, Hawaii, Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay and Chile. In South America the newest of ball games is much better known than is baseball, and in the Philippines and Japan basketball threatens the popularity of the diamond pastime. As a winter sport basketball has wonderful possibilities, and in the years to come it will doubtless play an increasingly important part in raising the physical standards of youth.

PRICE ON GIANTS MUCH TOO STEEP, SAYS SINCLAIR

New York, January 13.—Harry Sinclair, former Federal league promoter, stated today his position regarding the purchase of the New York Nationals, and how far his negotiations had progressed with President Hempstead of the Giants.

"I would like to purchase the Giants," he said. "The price placed on the club thus far by Mr. Hempstead has been ridiculous, however, and does not warrant serious consideration. While the Giants have made big profits in the past, they have made it on a capital stock of $250,000, which is entirely different from making big profits on an investment of from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000."

LOOKOUTS PASS UP HICKMAN'S CONTRACT

Chattanooga, Tenn., January 13.—(Special.)—Outfielder Hickman, the Johnson City, Tenn. boy, who has been counted a member of the Lookouts, has been discovered to be one of the lucky last breath members of the Federal league. He is under contract to the Buffalo Feds at a salary of $2,000.

Chattanooga could secure him without charge, but would be unable to handle him at $2,000 per year. Hickman was the speed demon of the North Carolina league.

LOCAL PREP FIVES OPEN SEASON TODAY

The local prep league will open its 1916 season this afternoon with games between Peacock and Marist at Peacock's and between G. M. A. and Boys' High at Boys' High. Tech High, the remaining member of the league, will not play until next Friday.

All of the schools have fast fives this year, so the race for the pennant should bring out some exciting games. Last year the championship was not decided until the last game of the season, when the Donald Fraser team defeated Marist, thereby giving the pennant to Boys' High.

Stallings Confers With New Owners of Braves In Boston on Saturday

Macon, Ga., January 13.—George T. Stallings, manager of the Boston Braves, announced last night that he would leave here on Saturday for Boston to confer with the new owners of the Boston Nationals.

Stallings would drop no hint as to whom he hopes to land for the Braves' camp.

"If I get the two players I have in mind," he said, "I will feel mighty lucky."

GRANT RICE WINNER IN PINEHURST GOLF

Pinehurst, N. C., January 13.—Grantland Rice, of Englewood, won the championship in the advertiser's golf tournament here today, his gross score for seventy-two hours being 337. E. T. Mason, of Framingham, was second in class A, with 341, and Marshall Whitlatch, of Baltimore, third, with 344.

A gross and net score of 77 and 71, respectively, turned in by Rice today, were the best of the tournament, but under the single prize rule and medal for the best gross score of the day went to Roy Barnhill, Fox Hills, with 78. A. L. Foster, Dunwoodie, and R. L. Whitton, Beverly, tied with 75 for the best net and will play off Friday.

Manson won the prize for the best 72 holes against bogey, finishing 2 up. The best net score for 72 holes was made by C. McCormick, of New Brunswick, with 302.

WILLARD-MORAN FIGHT OFF TILL MEMORIAL DAY

New York, January 13.—The proposed ten-round bout between Jess Willard, world's heavyweight champion, and Frank Moran, which it was expected would take place in this city some time in March, probably will be postponed until Memorial day, it was reported tonight. This step has become necessary, it was said, because Willard has informed the promoters of the match that he cannot fight in March. If a later date is selected the bout will be staged in the open.

PREDICTS SUCCESS OF PROGRESSIVES

Roosevelt Is Strongest Man in the Country to Lead Fight for Americanism, Declares R. A. Dewar.

That there is no possible chance of an amalgamation in June of the republican and progressive parties for this presidential election, was the declaration made last night by R. A. Dewar, who has just returned from Chicago, where he represented Georgia in the executive committee meeting of the progressive party.

He branded as absolutely "false," or "colored," all press reports sent out about the Chicago meeting in which it was made to appear that the progressive party was contemplating an amalgamation with the republicans.

Mr. Dewar is state chairman of the progressive party and was one of the sixty men to sign the call for the formation of the progressive party and has been one of the live-wire figures of the state since its formation.

Opposed to Reactionaries.

"If the republicans should be determined to select as their candidate a reactionary of the type of Root, Weeks or Burton, we will place before the country a candidate and will go into the fight to win," he said. "Under such circumstances we would undoubtedly take with us the mass of the republican voters and thousands of democrats who voted for Wilson in 1912, but are now convinced of the crying need of a man with firmness and determination at the helm. I cannot make it too plain, however, that under any and all circumstances the progressive party is here to stay. We will have our ticket in the field in every state in the union to be voted on, and are determined to build in the south a party that will retain the confidence and respect of the southern people and a party to which we will be proud to claim allegiance.

"Georgia will be thoroughly organized this year, and we will make every effort to carry the state.

"The Chicago meeting was a splendid one, and was attended by representatives from forty-seven states—90 per cent of these men being the leaders when the progressive party was first organized. Our committee was unanimous in the opinion that Colonel Roosevelt was the logical man as our candidate for president.

"We believe that thousands of republicans will support Roosevelt, and, if he is put up as our candidate, that there is some chance for the republicans coming over to us en masse. However, they will have to accept our platform in entirety.

Facing Grave Crisis.

"We believe that our country is facing one of the gravest crisis in its history and that our platform must be 'Our Country.' With the solemn resolve to lay aside personal prejudices and differences we have set the date of our national convention for June 7, and so we will go to Chicago ready to accept as our standard bearer any man who has the strength and courage to carry forward the ideals for which our party stands.

"We believe that Colonel Roosevelt is the strongest man in the country to lead the fight for Americanism and the restoration of our honor abroad, but we stand ready to accept as our leader another provided he makes as his platform the respect and protection of our flag and citizens throughout the world, and pledges his support to the progressive ideals for which we stand."

When asked about Hughes as a possible candidate of the progressives, Mr. Dewar replied:

"While it is true that Hughes would be acceptable to many progressives we do not believe that he would make as strong a race as the colonel and furthermore, we do not think that he would accept the nomination. That is why I am personally convinced that Roosevelt will be our next president, and will be able to swing a large percentage of both parties to his support and be our next president."

JANE ADDAMS ADVISES AGAINST DEFENSE PLAN

Preparedness Movement Due to Panic Over War, She Tells Committee.

Washington, January 13.—Two sides of the military preparedness problem were heard today by congressional committees. Miss Jane Addams, president of the Women's peace society of America, urged the house and senate military committees to make no increase in the army, at least until the European war was over, saying the preparedness movement was due to panic on account of the war. When she left the house committee room Major General Bliss, assistant chief of staff, resumed his statement as a military expert in favor of the administration's army plans.

Miss Addams, arguing that it would be foolish to build more dreadnaughts until it was known whether they were of any use, suggested that a commission be created to study army and navy efficiency, and also to look into the motives and interests of those urging heavier armament for the nation. Preparation against a "hypothetical enemy," she said, was needless and the United States should be prepared to lead with clean hands the movement for reduction of armaments which she thought must follow the great war.

Two Hundred Planes a Month.

General Bliss told the house committee that American plants could build 200 aeroplanes a month, and that there was no immediate necessity of increasing the army aircraft fleet except to equip the new aero squadrons proposed in the department's plans. He believed a balanced organization with proper proportions of all arms of the service was the vital need of the army.

Replying to a question, General Bliss said it was impossible to determine the relative value of the navy, coast artillery or the mobile army in any plan of denfense. It would be as easy, he said, to decide which was most necessary to the body, the heart, lungs or brain. He argued in behalf of the war department plan to add a number of new regiments to the army to make up the skeleton formations of the three infantry divisions contemplated as necessary by army experts.

Additional Units Necessary.

To Chairman Hay's suggestion that the 25,000 additional men asked for be added to existing organizations, the general objected because he insisted that the skeleton of an adequate army was essential to the proper handling of recruits in time of war. He said he would rather command in war a division in which all the arms were represented in proper proportion of units, although the units were at peace strength, and had to be filled out with raw recruits, than to lead an unbalanced division of full strength commands.

General Bliss indorsed the continental army plan fully, and said he had been unable, in months of study, to see any practical way of employing the national guard to meet the nation's needs. He disapproved suggestions that the regular army be concentrated at several large posts.

TWO BOMBS ARE HURLED AT JAPANESE PREMIER

Tokio, January 13.—Count Okuma, the Japanese premier, had a narrow escape from death early today at the hands of assassins. He was returning from the royal palace shortly after midnight and approaching his residence when two bombs were hurled at his automobile. The premier was not injured.

Okuma's chauffeur caught a glimpse of the bomb thrower as he was about to launch his missile and put on speed so that the bomb exploded behind the machine without causing any damage. A second bomb was thrown, but it failed to explode.

Count Okuma made another visit to the palace at 11 o'clock this morning. The unexploded bomb is being examined. The assailant or assailants escaped.
